

JACKSONVILLE ELECTROACOUSTIC MUSIC FESTIVAL

2021 CALL FOR MUSIC

Instructions and Submission Information

Set to take place Saturday November 20, 2021 at the University of North Florida in Jacksonville, jemFest 2021 invites submissions of stereo compositions for performance. Each composer may submit up to two works for consideration.

The submission deadline is August 15, 2021 at Midnight (EDT).

We encourage composers of all electroacoustic styles to apply – fixed media and live electronics are both welcome. There is no theme for the inaugural festival.

This year's featured performer is UNF flutist Dr. Sarah Jane Young. Works for Piccolo & Electronics, Flute & Electronics, Alto Flute & Electronics, or Baroque Flute & Electronics are all encouraged!

Works for other acoustic instruments will be considered if composers can provide their own performers.

Please include your scores (if applicable) and links to compositions in this registration form or email to jemfestmusic@gmail.com.

An emailed submission should also include the following information:

Your Full Name
State / Country
Title of Composition(s)
Institution Represented (if any)
Your intention to attend jemFEST if accepted (Y/N)

To maintain anonymity for the adjudication committee, please remove any identifying information from all files before sending.

Composition Review Process

All composition submissions will be subjected to a double-blind peer review process by a national committee of electroacoustic practitioners. Each composition will be assigned to two reviewers for independent evaluation. The composition chair will moderate a discussion amongst the reviewers and will inform the composers of their decision along with any reviewers' comments.

Festival Presentation Format

If the composition is accepted, composers will be asked to attend the festival at the University of North Florida (Jacksonville). Those who can attend the event will be given priority.

The registration fee will be $35 per accepted composer. Payment information will be provided upon acceptance.

Important Dates

Deadline for Submission: Midnight (EDT) on August 15, 2021
