The Hidden Book in the Bible, , 1998, 0965685713, 9780965685719. Renowned biblical sleuth and scholar Richard Elliot Friedman reveals the first work of prose literature in the world-a 3000-year-old epic hidden within the books of the Hebrew Bible. Written by a single, masterful author but obscured by ancient editors and lost for millennia, this brilliant epic of love, deception, war, and redemption is a compelling account of humankind's complex relationship with God. Friedman boldly restores this prose masterpiece-the very heart of the Bible-to the extraordinary form in which it was originally written.

Contemporary Social Problems, Vincent N. Parrillo, John Stimson, Ardyth Stimson , 1999, 0205285538, 9780205285532. In the three years since the publication of the last edition of this book, unfolding events and social changes have redirected public thinking about some of our social problems. Affirmative action -- as a result of initiatives in California, Texas, and Washington, DC -- is a far less potent entity. Welfare is now more of a state program than a national one. Federal assistance to non-citizens is drastically lower, and HMO's now appear to many as profit-motivated businesses often denying important medical care to patients because of their costs. These and other pervasive problems in our society need to be examined, analyzed, and considered, so that readers both can not only have a heightened awareness of social ills, but can also contribute to the solution. This clear, concise and well-organized book helps readers to understand their stake in social problems. A highly readable, visually stimulating book, it encourages readers to look at social problems and to ask "What if?" The book combines theory and sociohistoric perspectives with real, everyday problems. Topics include alcohol and drug use, adolescent and young adult suicide, pornography, crime, poverty, family, education, and work, among others. Sociologists, policy makers, government officials, and professors.

Narrative Architecture: Architectural Design Primers series, Nigel Coates , 2012, 1119963060, 9781119963066. The first book to look architectural narrative in the eyeSince the early eighties, many architects have used the term "narrative" to describe their work. To architects the enduring attraction of narrative is that it offers a way of engaging with the way a city feels and works. Rather than reducing architecture to mere style or an overt emphasis on technology, it foregrounds the experiential dimension of architecture. Narrative Architecture explores the potential for narrative as a way of interpreting buildings from ancient history through to the present, deals with architectural background, analysis and practice as well as its future development.Authored by Nigel Coates, a foremost figure in the field of narrative architecture, the book is one of the first to address this subject directly Features architects as diverse as William Kent, Antoni Gaudí, Eero Saarinen, Ettore Sottsass, Superstudio, Rem Koolhaas, and FAT to provide an overview of the work of NATO and Coates, as well as chapters on other contemporary designers Includes over 120 colour photographs Signposting narrative's significance as a design approach that can aid architecture to remain relevant in this complex, multi-disciplinary and multi-everything age, Narrative Architecture is a must-read for anyone with an interest in architectural history and theory.

Modern Afghanistan: A History of Struggle and Survival, Amin Saikal , 2012, 1780761228, 9781780761220. Afghanistan's recent history is a sad one: Soviet invasion in 1979; Pakistan-backed internal conflict in the 1980s; the Taliban regime; and then the US invasion and the multi-national occupation after the events of 11 September 2001. Why does Afghanistan remain so vulnerable to domestic instability, foreign intervention and ideological extremism? In reconstructing the tempestuous narrative of modern Afghanistan, Amin Saikal provides a sweeping new understanding of its troubled past and present. He identifies the country's inability to develop stable political structures as stemming from the inter-dynastic rivalry (complicated by polygamy) that scarred successive royal families from the end of the eighteenth century until the pro-Soviet Communist coup of April 1978, all exacerbated by foreign interventions - feeding on fragile domestic structures - and the rise and fall of different ideological streams. Here, for the first time, is an up-to-date analysis of the era of the Taliban's rule, the effects of US domination in the country and attempts to negotiate a US withdrawal - including talks about talks with the Taliban themselves. This book, which sets the crisis of Afghanistan in the context of the country's modern history and social structures, makes a major and highly original contribution towards a better and more nuanced understanding of this ill-fated land. It is the definitive study of Afghanistan and its troubles in national, regional and international contexts from 1747 to the present day.

Lad, Anisha Durve](#) , 2008, 1883725089, 9781883725082. Marma points are an important element of Ayurveda's healing power. Developed in India centuries ago, these energy points profoundly affect the body, mind and spirit and facilitate the deepest levels of healing. Prana is the current of energy that infuses every cell within the body. Stimulating marmani (energy points) directly taps into this reservoir of energy and promotes health. This work is the first of its kind to systematically present all 117 marmani according to their individual energetics and to compare them with the Chinese system of acupuncture points. Detailed commentaries for each marma shed light on their diagnostic and therapeutic scope. Marma therapy integrates vital knowledge of the energy points with specific techniques of Ayurvedic massage, detoxification, acupressure, aromatherapy, yoga practices, meditation and more. This book is a valuable resource for Ayurvedic practitioners and acupuncturists as well as medical doctors, massage therapists and yoga therapists. It also serves as a foundation to develop tools for one's own self-healing and for students of various medical systems who are seeking a holistic approach to health.

Hull's Financial Risk Management text is the only text to take risk management theory and explain it in a "this is how you do it" manner for practical application in today's real world. We found that most professors are looking for a book that contains up to date information, and is written for application in the real work environment. Hull's text offers students the ability to gain knowledge that will stay with them beyond college and be useful in the real world. Based on one of the most popular MBA courses at University of Toronto entitled "Financial Risk Management", this text focuses on the ways banks and other financial institutions measure market, credit and operational risk. John C. Hull, author of the book "Options, Futures, and Other Derivatives" which became the standard reference text for traders, wrote "Risk Management and Financial Institutions" for use in instruction as well as trade. The practical nature of the book lends itself to a "this is how you do it" presentation style that includes excellent account of the new Basel II regulatory requirements for banks effective in 2007.

What Am I? : Descartes and the Mind-Body Problem: Descartes and the Mind-Body Problem, Los Angeles Joseph Almog Professor of Philosophy University of California , 2001, 019803346X, 9780198033462. In his Meditations, Rene Descartes asks, "what am I?" His initial answer is "a man." But he soon discards it: "But what is a man? Shall I say 'a rational animal'? No: for then I should inquire what an animal is, what rationality is, and in this way one question would lead down the slope to harder ones." Instead of understanding what a man is, Descartes shifts to two new questions: "What is Mind?" and "What is Body?" These questions develop into Descartes's main philosophical preoccupation: the Mind-Body distinction. How can Mind and Body be independent entities, yet joined--essentially so--within a single human being? If Mind and Body are really distinct, are human beings merely a "construction"? On the other hand, if we respect the integrity of humans, are Mind and Body merely aspects of a human being and not subjects in and of themselves? For centuries, philosophers have considered this classic philosophical puzzle. Now, in this compact, engaging, and long-awaited work, UCLA philosopher Joseph Almog closely decodes the French philosopher's argument for distinguishing between the human mind and body while maintaining simultaneously their essential integration in a human being. He argues that Descartes constructed a solution whereby the trio of Human Mind, Body, and Being are essentially interdependent yet remain each a genuine individual subject. Almog's reading not only steers away from the most popular interpretations of Descartes, but also represents a scholar coming to grips directly with Descartes himself. In doing so, Almog creates a work that Cartesian scholars will value, and that will also prove indispensable to philosophers of language, ontology, and the metaphysics of mind.

A Hero of Our Time, Mikhail Lermontov , 2013, 0199652686, 9780199652686. 'After all that - how, you might wonder, could one not become a fatalist?' Lermontov's hero, Pechorin, is a young army officer posted to the Caucasus, where his adventures - amorous and reckless - do nothing to alleviate his boredom and cynicism. World-weary and self-destructive, Pechorin is alienated from those around him yet he is full of passion and romantic ardour, sensitive as well as arrogant. His complex, contradictory character dominates A Hero of Our Time, the first great Russian novel, in which the intricate narrative unfolds episodically, transporting the reader from the breathtaking terrain of the Caucasus to the genteel surroundings of spa resorts. Told in an engaging yet pointedly ironic style, the story expresses Lermontov's own estrangement from the stifling conventions of bourgeois society and the oppression of Russian autocracy, but it also captures a longing for freedom through acts of love and bravery. This new edition also includes Pushkin's Journey to Arzrum, in which Pushkin describes his own experiences of Russia's military campaigns in the Caucasus and which provides a fascinating counterpoint to Lermontov's novel. ABOUT THE SERIES: For over 100 years Oxford World's Classics has made available the widest range of literature from around the globe. The Last Generation: Prophecy, Current World Events, and the End Times, Jim Simmons , 2009, 0984168036, 9780984168033. THE LAST GENERATION is a well-documented overview and resource manual that shows how current and historical events have unfolded, consistent with biblical prophecy, logically revealing how and why we are in our last days. We are not looking at a day, an hour, or a year, but a generation the last generation, which began with the birth of Israel in 1948. According to Matthew 24:34, this generation will not pass away until all these things take place.

Addressed are the final pieces of the prophetic puzzle that have been falling into place at an unprecedented pace since that time. The depiction of the Doomsday Clock on the front cover with midnight as doomsday represents the consensus of the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists. With a newspaper in one hand and a Bible in the other, it is easy to see God's Word being fulfilled in this generation as current events coincide with prophecies made over 2,500 years ago.

Exceptionally comprehensive, innately interesting, and extremely readable, this best-seller introduces readers to the study of contemporary marriages and families in ways to which they can easily relate. It examines the diversity of American families giving equal attention to all racial, ethnic, and other societal groups and examines not only the choices, but the constraints that often limit our family-related choices today. This open-minded approach, combined with a set of practical guidelines presented in each chapter, encourages learners to think and act for themselves and thereby join the effort to resolve some of the crucial issues confronting 21st century families. A six-part organization places marriage and the family in perspective, looks at the individual and developing relationships, as well as the individual and marital commitments, considers parents and children, explores conflicts and crises, and offers an understanding of changes and transitions. For those interested in a complete and current study of marital and family relationships in America.

Figuring genre in Roman satire, Catherine Keane , 2006, 0195183304, 9780195183306. Satirists are social critics, but they are also products of society. Horace, Persius, and Juvenal, the verse satirists of ancient Rome, exploit this double identity to produce their colorful commentaries on social life and behavior. In a fresh comparative study that combines literary and cultural analysis, Catherine Keane reveals how the satirists create such a vivid and incisive portrayal of the Roman social world. Throughout the tradition, the narrating satirist figure does not observe human behavior from a distance, but adopts a range of charged social roles to gain access to his subject matter. In his mission to entertain and moralize, he poses alternately as a theatrical performer and a spectator, a perpetrator and victim of violence, a jurist and criminal, a teacher and student. In these roles the satirist conducts penetrating analyses of Rome's definitive social practices "from the inside." Satire's reputation as the quintessential Roman genre is thus even more justified than previously recognized. As literary artists and social commentators, the satirists rival the grandest authors of the classical canon. They teach their ancient and modern readers two important lessons. First, satire reveals the inherent fragilities and complications, as well as acknowledging the benefits, of Roman society's most treasured institutions. The satiric perspective deepens our understanding of Roman ideologies and their fault lines. As the poets show, no system of judgment, punishment, entertainment, or social organization is without its flaws and failures. At the same time, readers are encouraged to view the satiric genre itself as a composite of these systems, loaded with cultural meaning and highly imperfect. The satirist who functions as both subject and critic trains his readers to develop a critical perspective on every kind of authority, including his own.

The name of John Maynard Keynes is still the focus of political and economic controversy, and in the course of it, "what Keynes really meant" has suffered much distortion. This book represents a quest for the historical Keynes. It follows the story of an argument which arose out of the performance of the British economy in the period of depression between the wars and provides an account of Keynes's thinking in the years that led up to the General Theory, making it comprehensible to specialists and non-specialists alike.

The Neutron's Children: Nuclear Engineers and the Shaping of Identity, Sean Johnston , 2012, 0199692114, 9780199692118. The first nuclear engineers emerged from the Manhattan Project in the USA, UK and Canada, but remained hidden behind security for a further decade. Cosseted and cloistered by their governments, they worked to explore applications of atomic energy at a handful of national labs. This unique bottom-up history traces how the identities of these unusually voiceless experts - forming a uniquely state-managed discipline - were shaped in the context of pre-war nuclear physics, wartime industrial management, post-war politics and utopian energy programmes. Even after their eventual emergence at universities and companies, nuclear workers carried the enduring legacy of their origins. Their shared experiences shaped not only their identities, but our collective memories of the late twentieth century. And as illustrated by the Fukushima accident seven decades after the Manhattan project began, this book explains why they are still seen conflictingly as selfless heroes or as mistrusted guardians of a malevolent genie.

Teens Are Heroes, Too!: Challenges, Choices and Character, Vera Ripp Hirschhorn , 2005, 0971819726, 9780971819726. Teens Are Heroes, Too! was published as a result of the fifth and sixth annual Celebration of America's Young Heroes Month essay, poetry, music and art contests. The program for and by teens began as a response to the school tragedies that culminated at Columbine H.S. in order to emphasize Respect for Diversities. E. Harris & Dylan Klebold, the shooters stated in a video: "After next week, we will begin to get the respect we deserve." Sadly, they chose irresponsible, violent solutions unlike the contemporary and historical young heroes in this anthology who overcame adversities with respect for diversity, fortitude, compassion/caring, a positive attitude, gratitude, citizenship/patriotism and wisdom. Teens Are Heroes, Too! offers teachers and students "hero" tools to motivate students to identify their unique attributes and strengths, i.e. talents, skills, interests and hobbies. Thus, when faced with mental, emotional, physical, academic, environmental or socio economic challenges at home, school or community, students can look within for their identified strengths and resolve the challenges responsibly with positive thoughts, words and action. The young heroes in this anthology chose to see the essential traits, features and potential in either themselves or in others; in so doing, they were able to transform their sadness, pain and tragedy or those of another into triumph; they began to discover their "meaning in life" a la Victor Frankl by doing a deed, creating a work, loving a cause. Additionally, the book and program offer students an opportunity to improve writing and reading skills. Dr. Richard T. Vacca, an Adolescent Literacy Educator and Professor Emeritus, Kent State University stated: "Each piece of writing serves as a springboard to reading and more writing. Writing begets Reading. Reading begets Writing. Teens Are Heroes, Too! is a marriage of the two." Gloria Allin, After School Reads Coordinator of the Literacy Coalition wrote: "The questions for discussion that followed each chapter are thought provoking and hit at the core of young adults' social and emotional conscience. This book should be a "must read" in every middle school or high school classroom."

Not in His Image: Gnostic Vision, Sacred Ecology, and the Future of Belief, John Lamb Lash , 2006, 1603580204, 9781603580205. Basing much of Not in His Image on the Nag Hammadi and other Gnostic writings, John Lamb Lash explains how a little-known messianic sect propelled itself into a dominant world power, systematically wiping out the great Gnostic spiritual teachers, the Druid priests, and the shamanistic healers of Europe and North Africa. They burned libraries and destroyed temples in an attempt to silence the ancient truth-tellers and keep their own secrets. But as Lash reveals, when the truth is the planet Earth it cannot be hidden or destroyed. Not in His Image delves deeply into the shadows of ancient Gnostic writings to reconstruct the story early Christians tried to scrub from the pages of history, exploring the richness of the ancient European Pagan spirituality--the Pagan Mysteries, the Great Goddess, Gnosis, the myths of Sophia and Gaia--and chronicles the annihilation of this Pagan European culture at the hands of Christianity. Long before the birth of Christianity, monotheism was an anomaly; Europe and the Near East flourished

under the divine guidance of Sophia, the ancient goddess of wisdom. The Earth was the embodiment of Sophia and thus sacred to the people who sought fulfillment in her presence. This ancient philosophy was threatening to the emerging salvation-based creed of Christianity that was based on patriarchal dominion over the Earth and lauded personal suffering as a path to the afterlife. As Derrick Jensen points out in the afterword, in Lash's hands Jesus Christ emerges as the agent provocateur of the ruling classes.

Blood Kiss: Vampire Erotica, Cecilia Tan , 1994, 1885865007, 9781885865007. Cherished Blood is the third of Circlet Press' top-selling erotic vampire anthologies. Distinguished from the popular works of Anne Rice and other vampire authors, whose vampires suck blood instead of having sex, Cherished Blood features vamps whose physical needs go beyond a nightly drink. Some vampires are gay, lesbian, kinky, bisexual, can morph their gender, others are outre merely by the fact of their being immortal, magical, blood-drinkers. The vampire short stories of the Circlet Press series are also unique in that no story centers around a murder, resulting in vampire tales which defy formula and expectations, in which the darkly sensuous creatures live, love, fight, plot, work, and play, not just kill. Rather than portray the vampire as a source of terror and evil, we have co-opted the vampire into a powerfully erotic totem, symbolic of "alternative" sexuality and the struggle for love and freedom in a sunless world. Cherished Blood will appeal to mainstream vampire fans, gay and lesbian readers, erotica readers, and anyone who enjoys high quality, sexually subversive literature.

Despite the global spread of nuclear hardware and knowledge, at least half of the nuclear weapons projects launched since 1970 have definitively failed, and even the successful projects have generally needed far more time than expected. To explain this puzzling slowdown in proliferation, Jacques E. C. Hymans focuses on the relations between politicians and scientific and technical workers in developing countries. By undermining the workers' spirit of professionalism, developing country rulers unintentionally thwart their own nuclear ambitions. Combining rich theoretical analysis, in-depth historical case studies of Iraq, China, Yugoslavia and Argentina and insightful analyses of current-day proliferant states, Achieving Nuclear Ambitions develops a powerful new perspective that effectively counters the widespread fears of a coming cascade of new nuclear powers.

Mind and Its Evolution: A Dual Coding Theoretical Approach, Allan Paivio , 2007, 080585259X, 9780805852592. This book updates the Dual Coding Theory of mind (DCT), a theory of modern human cognition consisting of separate but interconnected nonverbal and verbal systems. Allan Paivio, a leading scholar in cognitive psychology, presents this masterwork as new findings in psychological research on memory, thought, language, and other core areas have flourished, as have pioneering developments in the cognitive neurosciences. Mind and Its Evolution provides a thorough exploration into how these adaptive nonverbal and verbal systems might have evolved, as well as a careful comparison of DCT with contrasting single-code cognitive theories. Divided into four parts, this text begins with a general, systematic theory of modern human cognition as the reference model for interpreting the cognitive abilities of evolutionary ancestors. The first half of the book discusses mind as it is; the second half addresses how it came to be that way. Each half is subdivided into two parts defined by thematic chapters. Mind and Its Evolution concludes with evidence-based suggestions about nourishing mental growth through applications of DCT in education, psychotherapy, and health. This volume will appeal to cognitive and evolutionary psychologists, as well as students in the areas of memory, language, cognition, and mind evolution specialists in psychology, philosophy, and other disciplines.

Mystical Origins of the Tarot: From Ancient Roots to Modern Usage, Paul Huson , 2004, 0892811900, 9780892811908. A profusely illustrated history of the occult nature of the tarot from its origins in ancient Persia Thoroughly examines the original historical source for each tarot card and how the cards divinatory meanings evolved from these symbols Provides authentic 18th- and 19th-century spreads and divination techniques Reveals the divinatory meanings of the cards as understood by diviners in the Middle Ages and RenaissanceThe origins of the tarot have been lost in the mists of time. Most scholars have guessed that its origins were in China, Egypt, or India. In Mystical Origins of the Tarot, Paul Huson has expertly tracked each symbol of the Minor Arcana to roots in ancient Persia and the Major Arcana Trump card images to the medieval world of mystery, miracle, and morality plays. A number of tarot historians have questioned the use of the tarot as a divination tool prior to the 18th century. But the author demonstrates that the symbolic meanings of the Major Arcana were evident from the time they were first employed in the mid-15th century in the popular divination practice of sortilege. He also reveals how the identities of the court cards in the Minor Arcana were derived from a blend of pagan and medieval sources that strongly influenced their interpretation in tarot divination.Mystical Origins of the Tarot provides a thorough examination of the original historical source for each card and how the cards divinatory meanings evolved from these symbols. Huson also provides concise and practical card-reading methods designed by the cartomancers of the 18th and 19th centuries and reveals the origins of the card interpretations promoted by the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn and A. E. Waite.

BEST AND THE BRIGHTEST was David Halberstam's classic account of how America became involved in Vietnam. In WAR IN A TIME OF PEACE he brilliantly evokes the internecine conflicts, the untrammelled egos, and the struggles for dominance among the key figures in the White House, the State department, and the military in the post-Soviet period. He shows how in the last ten years the Vietnam war has shaped American politics and policy makers and especially the decisions of men who served in the war, such as General Colin Powell and presidential advisors Richard Holbrooke and Anthony Lake as well as those who did not. Sweeping in scope and impressive in its depth, WAR IN A TIME OF PEACE provides fascinating portraits of the main players including Clinton, Bush, Reagan and Kissinger and a stunning view of what lies behind the US government over which George W. Bush now presides. It is essential reading for anyone who wants to understand America in the twenty-first century. 'Halberstam's most important book, more ambitious and revealing than THE BEST AND THE BRIGHTEST Just as Vietnam was the test case for our elders, the Balkans and other tragic conflicts became the proving ground for the Bush and Clinton administrations. What Halberstam has written is nothing less than a WAR AND PEACE for our generation' Leslie H. Gelb, President, Council on Foreign Relations

Grain truly is the staff of lifetasty, versatile, and highly nutritious. This terrific and comprehensive cookbook offers authentic, eclectic, homespun recipes that showcase a variety of different grains at their best, whether on their own or cooked with vegetables or meat. From the familiar oat to exotic ancient crops, The Whole Grain Cookbook celebrates the good eating offered by 20 different whole grains: amaranth, quinoa, corn (maize), wheat, spelt, QK-77, triticale, rye, oats, rice, barley, millet, teff, sorghum, fonio, buckwheat, chickpeas, beans and peas, seeds, and nuts. Also included is information on how to store whole grain and how to grind your own meal and flour with a home milling machine (as with coffee and pepper, freshly ground grains are more flavorful, and less expensive, than store-bought). Appetizing, informative, and uncomplicated, this is a resource you'll return to again and again.

Seasonal Baking: Celebrating the baking year with classic cakes, cupcakes, biscuits and delicious treats, Fiona Cairns, 2013, 0297867792, 9780297867791. Royal cake maker, Fiona Cairns, knows how important the seasons are when creating delicious cakes. Not only are ingredients at their very best and cheapest, but it also makes sense to be in tune with the changing colours, moods and celebrations of the seasons. In the spring, why not try baking early rhubarb and vanilla custard cupcakes? On a hot summer's day enjoy a mango pavlova, and on a cold winter's afternoon curl up by the fireside and share a slice of chocolate and cardamom tart. From edible gifts to party and celebration cakes, plus decorating ideas and drink suggestions, SEASONAL BAKING is full of inspiration whatever the time of year or occasion. Fiona Cairns supplies cakes for Waitrose, Selfridges, Harrods, Sainsbury's and Bon Marche Paris and was the official cake designer for Prince William and Kate Middleton's wedding. Many of the cakes in this book are accompanied by decorating ideas, as well as seasonal drink suggestions. Whether you find yourself in the kitchen wondering what to bake for the simple pleasure of it, to share or give to a friend or maybe bake for a party large or small - whatever the time of year or occasion, you will find plenty of ideas.

The Oxford Handbook of Strategic Sales and Sales Management, David W. Cravens, Kenneth Le Meunier-FitzHugh, Nigel F. Piercy, 2012, 0199664617, 9780199664610. The Oxford Handbook of Strategic Sales and Sales Management is an unrivalled overview by leading academics in the field of sales and marketing management. Sales theory is experiencing a renaissance driven by a number of factors, including building profitable relationships, creating/delivering brand value, strategic customer management, sales and marketing relationships, global selling, and the change from transactional to customer relationship marketing. Escalating sales and selling costs require organizations to be more focused on results and highlight the shifting of resources from marketing to sales. Further the growth in customer power now requires a strategic sales response, and not just a tactical one. The positioning of sales within the organization, the sales function, and sales management are all discussed. The Handbook fills a gap in the existing literature through consolidating the current academic research in the sales area. The Handbook is structured around four key topics. The first section explores the strategic positioning of the sales function within the modern organization. The second considers sales management and recent developments. The third section examines the sales relationship with the customer and highlights how sales is responding to the modern environment. Finally, the fourth section reviews the internal composition of sales within the organization. The Handbook will provide a comprehensive introduction to the latest research in sales management, and is suitable for academics, professionals, and those taking professional qualifications in sales and marketing.

Social Inequality in Canada: Patterns, Problems, and Policies, Edward G. Grabb, Neil Guppy , 2008, 0131984756, 9780131984752. Social Inequality in Canada is a collection of twenty-eight articles that cover all of the major aspects of social inequality. The text covers two broad components: objective or structural conditions of social inequality (power, poverty and wealth, occupations, and educational attainment, in particular) and ideologies that help support these differences. Readers who would prefer a more egalitarian society than currently exists in Canada will find reasons for both optimism and pessimism in the research presented here. The studies in this collection demonstrate that some types of inequality are generally becoming more marked over time, while others have considerably diminished, and still more that show little change in recent decades.

Religion and Nationalism in Iraq: A Comparative Perspective, David Little, Donald K. Sweare , 2006, 0945454414, 9780945454410. Because the situation in Iraq exhibits some of the standard symptoms of religious nationalism, it seems appropriate to compare it to other cases where the impulses of religion and nationalism have also come together in a highly lethal way. This volume provides a comparative consideration of attempts to manage and resolve nationalist conflicts in Bosnia, Sri Lanka, and Sudan, and examines how lessons from those situations might inform similar efforts in Iraq. In their introduction, Professors Little and Sweare review current scholarly thinking on the connection of religious and ethnic factors to nationalist conflicts, and they demonstrate the salience of religious and ethnic identity to these conflicts. For each country, two prominent thinkers examine the intersection of religion and ethnicity and the struggles to form a nation-state. The volume also contains a summary of the discussion on each country among 20 scholars, appendices providing background on the three countries with which Iraq is compared, and maps of the countries. The central role of ethnic and religious impulses in forming the identity of a people or "nation" directly ties these matters to nationalism and nationalist conflict.

Germs, Genes, & Civilization: How Epidemics Shaped Who We Are Today, David P. Clark , 2010, 0137068689, 9780137068685. In Germs, Genes and Civilization, Dr. David Clark tells the story of the microbe-driven epidemics that have repeatedly molded our human destinies. You'll discover how your genes have been shaped through millennia spent battling against infectious diseases. You'll learn how epidemics have transformed human history, over and over again, from ancient Egypt to Mexico, the Romans to Attila the Hun. You'll learn how the Black Death epidemic ended the Middle Ages, making possible the Renaissance, western democracy, and the scientific revolution. Clark demonstrates how epidemics have repeatedly shaped not just our health and genetics, but also our history, culture, and politics. You'll even learn how they may influence religion and ethics, including the ways they may help trigger cultural cycles of puritanism and promiscuity. Perhaps most fascinating of all, Clark reveals the latest scientific and philosophical insights into the interplay between microbes, humans, and society - and previews what just might come next.

European Integration and Political Conflict, Gary Marks, Marco R. Steenbergen , 2004, 0521535050, 9780521535052.

Over the past half-century, Europe has experienced the most radical reallocation of authority that has ever taken place in peace-time, yet the ideological conflicts that will emerge from this are only now becoming apparent. The editors of this 2004 volume, Gary Marks and Marco Steenbergen, have brought together a formidable group of scholars of European and comparative politics to investigate patterns of conflict that are arising in the European Union. Using diverse sources of data, and examining a range of actors, including citizens, political parties, members of the European Parliament, social movements, and interest groups, the authors of this volume conclude that political contestation concerning European integration is indeed rooted in the basic conflicts that have shaped political life in Western Europe for many years. This comprehensive volume provides an analysis of political conflict in the European Union.

Leonardo Da Vinci: The Flights of the Mind, Charles Nicholl , 2005, 0140296816, 9780140296815. Leonardo is the greatest, most multi-faceted and most mysterious of all Renaissance artists, but extraordinarily, considering his enormous reputation, this is the first full-length biography in English for several decades. Prize-winning author Charles Nicholl has immersed himself for five years in all the manuscripts, paintings and artefacts to produce an intimate portrait of Leonardo. He uses these contemporary materials - his notebooks and sketchbooks, eye witnesses and early biographies, etc - as a way into the mental tone and physical texture of his life and has made myriad small discoveries about him and his work and his circle of associates. Among much else, the book identifies what Nicholl argues is an unknown portrait of the artist hanging in a church near Lodi in northern Italy. It also contains new material on his eccentric assistant Tomasso Masini, on his homosexual affairs in Florence, and on his curious relationship with a female model and/or prostitute from Cremona. A masterpiece of modern biography.

Miraculously, he revealed an innate ability to create amazing artworks that reflect his own unique perspective and gave him a voice he had never had. Written by Seth's mother, Debra, An Unexpected Life tells the story of their long difficult path, and her determination to help her son. Although Seth cannot safely cross the street alone, he is an icon for anyone who has been in a hopeless situation and then triumphs. More than simply a memoir, this visually breathtaking volume is infused with hope, inspiration, and art.

You Know You've Reached Middle Age If..., Joey Green, Alan Corcoran , 1999, 0740700316, 9780740700316. Every 18 seconds another Baby Boomer turns 50 and confronts that dreaded milestone: middle age. But the "Me Generation" seems to be defining middle age based on a projected life span of 120 years. In other words, they're in denial, big time. This lighthearted book will clear up any confusion readers might have about whether they're still young at heart, or if they're being dragged kicking and screaming over the threshold of middle age. It's indisputable that you've reached middle age if . . .* You watch reruns of Leave it to Beaver, The Brady Bunch, or The Wonder Years and you identify with the parents.* You remember when meat, potatoes, and gravy were considered a well-balanced meal.* The only illegal herbs you're interested in smuggling into the country are Cuban cigars.* You've come to the annoying realization that your parents were right about almost everything.* Your computer has more memory than you do.* You remember when TVs had antennas and telephones had cords. You Know You've Reached Middle Age If . . . also includes bonus sections like "What Others Say About Middle Age" (with witty celebrity quotes) and "There's Still Hope," listing notable late bloomers and their accomplishments. A couple of these inspiring tidbits: Daniel Defoe wrote Robinson Crusoe at 59, and at 77 John Glenn orbited the Earth in a space shuttle. This charming and clever look at the mature lifestyle will gently break the news to readers that they're middle aged, and humorously assure them that that's okay.

Gene Therapy of Cancer: Translational Approaches from Preclinical Studies to Clinical Implementation, Edmund C.

Lattime, Stanton L. Gerson , 2013, 0123946328, 9780123946324. Gene therapy as a treatment for cancer is at a critical point in its evolution. Exciting new developments in gene targeting and vector technology, coupled with results from the first generation of preclinical and clinical studies have led to the design and testing of new therapeutic approaches. The Third Edition of Gene Therapy of Cancer provides crucial updates on the basic and applied sciences of gene therapy. It offers a comprehensive assessment of the field including the areas of suicide gene therapy, oncogene and suppressor gene targeting, immunotherapy, drug resistance gene therapy, and the genetic modification of stem cells. Researchers at all levels of development, from basic laboratory investigators to clinical practitioners, will find this book to be instructive. Cancer gene therapy, like cancer therapy in general, is evolving rapidly, testing new concepts, targets and pathways, evoking new technologies, and passing new regulatory hurdles. Its essence, however, has not changed: the hope and challenges of returning altered genes to normal, using targeted gene expression to alter the function of both tumor and microenvironment, and in some cases normal cells, and delivering functionally important genes to specific cell types to increase sensitivity to killing or to protect normal cells from cancer therapies. In some instances, gene therapy for cancer forms a continuum from gene repair through the use of molecularly modified cells; the use of viral and non-viral vector based gene delivery to both tumor and tumor microenvironment; the use of viral and gene based vaccines; and development of new gene-based therapeutics. The unique mechanistically chosen vector platforms are at the heart of this technology because they allow for direct and selective cell death and transient to sustained delivery of vaccine molecules or molecules that affect the microenvironment, vasculature, or the immune response. Explains the underlying cancer biology necessary for understanding proposed therapeutic approaches. Presents in-depth description of targeting systems and treatment strategies. Covers the breadth of gene therapy approaches including immunotherapeutic, drug resistance, oncolytic viruses, as well as regulatory perspectives from both the NCI and FDA.

In particular, the contributors analyze the inadequacy of the United States' response to African problems (such as environmental decay, spiraling debt, and health epidemics) that do not respect national boundaries; the fragility of democracy in Africa and the danger of reversion to dictatorships; and the barriers to constitutional democracy in sub-Saharan Africa. The remainder of the book consists of case studies of various aspects of civil society from Mozambique, Nigeria, Zimbabwe, and South Africa.

In Search of Civilization: Remaking a tarnished idea, John Armstrong , 2009, 0141961260, 9780141961262. In Arthur Ransome's charming tale of childhood adventure, Secret Water, four children are pretending to be savages approaching an outpost of the civilized world. 'What is civilization?' asks Bridget, the youngest. 'Ices,' explains her brother, 'and all that sort of thing.' It is probably the briefest definition of the term on record in English, though it doesn't quite do justice to the grand idea of civilization. But if it isn't ices then what exactly is meant by civilization, and why do we need it? Today, the debate around civilization and its meaning has almost disappeared. If talked about at all, it will be as part of a different debate: the political tensions between different parts of the world, colonial history, developments in engineering. Yet the promise of civilization is greater: if considered in its full meaning civilization can be a way of reconnecting grand, societal forces - economic liberty, social freedom - with the more intimate and deeper needs of life - wisdom, maturity, a flourishing of culture. In In Search of Civilization John Armstrong argues cogently and passionately that our sources of wisdom, maturity and happiness are rapidly drying up. Only by reviving a conversation about civilization can we put in place the conditions for our renaissance.

The Joshua Tree, L. Steven Rencher , 2005, 0976346400, 9780976346401. JOSHUA PEELER, a shy, lonely 16 year old youth growing up in the Bronx, possesses a healthy respect for fate and its inevitability, but he never thinks much about it relative to his own life. Little does he know that fate is about to reveal itself to him, and in a way that would forever change the direction of his life. The setting is the Bronx, New York; the year, 1972.Joshua's asleep in his bed when he hears the name of a girl, Sarah, in a dream. Months later, through a fateful set of occurrences, he meets a beautiful girl whose name, surprisingly, is SARAH.Sarah is 16 years old and lives with her father, FRANK EDWARDS, a domineering brute of a man whose wife walked out on him years earlier. Her leaving, and his being forced to raise their daughter alone in a Bronx project, fuels his bitterness. As a consequence, he takes much of his frustrations out on Sarah. Frank's bizarre behavior, coupled with the oppressive circumstances of life at home are a constant source of embarrassment for Sarah. A straight-A student, she's ostracized by most of her peers who she views as pathetic ghetto lifers. A self-described agnostic as well, she's methodically mapped out a future that doesn't include any of those things which she has come to loathe. Her steadfast arrogance on the matter, can't imagine anything derailing her life's goal. The one thing she hadn't counted on was love, and it blossoms quickly between she and Joshua as they each discover a commonality in each other's parochial existence.They're soon rendezvousing in secret, and against the wishes of her father. Sarah's happier than she's ever been. Then something horrific happens and in an instant, her life is turned upside down.

Illustrated Dictionary of Cargo Handling, Peter R. Brodie , 2010, 1843118823, 9781843118824. "This book will be an excellent guide to students new to the technical terms used in the maritime industry and will also provide a useful addition to the reference library of experienced transport managers." Maritime Policy & ManagementThe third edition of the Illustrated Dictionary of Cargo Handling builds on the two previous editions by adding to the wide range of new equipment to be found in ports and on board ships. This practical, user-friendly dictionary focuses on the visual aspects of cargo handling and shipping and contains definitions, descriptions and illustrations of the many forms of equipment, vessel types and cargo-related aspects of merchant ships.Dry cargo is transported using two distinct methods - in containers and in bulk. The book deals with both methods. The many different types of container are examined, as well as the methods by which they are handled and carried. Port equipment and facilities, including specialist cranes and forklift trucks are included. Bulk cargoes, in particular those carried in large quantities every year, are covered, with explanations of their characteristics and the equipment and methods used to load, carry, discharge and store them. All of this makes the book an invaluable guide to the ports industry.Ships, and equipment found both on board and on the dockside, are well illustrated with a large number of photographs, double the previous edition, which give the reader an excellent visual understanding of the variety of equipment used in cargo handling operations. Many of the captions to the photos now have expanded definitions which explain the particular object being illustrated as well as, in many instances, other equipment in the photo. There is also a new abbreviations section. A complete ready reference to the technicalities of sea transport, the third edition of this popular dictionary as always provides lucid definitions, many fully illustrated, of some 850 terms relating to the vessels and equipment used in modern cargo handling and shipping.
