Boston Centers for Youth & Families (BCYF,) is currently enrolling youth participants, age 6-17, for the annual BCYF Citywide Swim League.

Every year, over 300 young swimmers participate in the BCYF Swim League. In addition to improving swimming skills, participants make new friends and enjoy visits to other BCYF swimming pools in Boston for meets. The league is a developmental league and serves as an introduction to competitive swimming so experience on a swim team is not necessary. Participants will be tested to make sure they are able to swim one length of the pool. The regular season meets are held once a week beginning in November. The Championship Meet will take place in March.

To sign up to participate, email or call one of the contacts listed below. For more information, contact Antonio Rosario, BCYF Aquatics Manager, at Antonio.Rosario@boston.gov or 617-635-4920 ext. 2150. Team enrollment will continue through November or until each team reaches capacity.

Residents can now find a complete guide to affordable housing on the City's website. This new guide helps residents understand the different types of affordable housing available in Boston, including vouchers, income-restricted rentals, single-room occupancy units and affordable homeownership opportunities. It lays out in simple terms how Bostonians can apply for income-restricted housing, and explains what residents need to prepare to qualify for and apply for different types of housing units. It also consolidates various available housing search tools, including those from outside partners.

The new affordable housing guide complements the City's revamped Metrolist, which is the City's resource for available affordable housing opportunities. The Department of Neighborhood Development's Innovation and Technology unit collaborated closely with the City's Office of Fair Housing and Equity to bring Metrolist online, resulting in a database that users can subscribe to receive emails about property listings, lotteries and services, and search for affordable housing opportunities in Boston and the surrounding metro area. In addition, landlords, property owners, and property managers can now easily post their affordable housing listings with the City; these listings will then be distributed to Metrolist subscribers. Residents in search of housing options are encouraged to subscribe to Metrolist.
