We live in a world of many vibrant colors, especially now as spring is turning to summer, but when it comes to gender, society trains us to describe the world only in terms of pink and blue. Even as knowledge and ideas of gender have expanded in recent years, the gender binary is still too often seen as default. Beyond Pink and Blue uses poetry and photography to explore gender through metaphors of color and nature.

Session 1: Meditations on Gender

Day: Tuesday, June 7th, 7:30-9pm

Session 2: Inner Depths of Gender

Day: Tuesday, June 14th, 7:30-9pm

*Cai Quirk (they/them or ey/em) is Pendle Hill's 2022 Minnie Jane Scholar. Cai is a lifelong Quaker with passions for Witness, personal discernment, and diverse methods of spiritual deepening. With a gender that transcends binaries, Cai is practiced at deeply questioning societal expectations and norms and in shifting towards roots of individual and group integrity. Spiritual deepening, Witness, and integrity are expanded in Cai's writing, photography, and music practices. Cai's upcoming book of photography and stories, Transcendence: Queer Restoryation, connects themes of spirituality, mythology, and gender diversity, nature and storytelling.
