

Our best BUY ideas

- Long-term structural BUYs are: ICICI bank, BHEL, Bharti, Cairn, Sun Pharma, Sterlite and M&M. We believe investors should enter Maruti, Hero Honda, RIL, HDFC, and NTPC at lower prices.
- Key mid-cap BUYs are: Exide, IBREL, GSPL and OnMobile .
- Suzlon, SAIL and Axis Bank are trading ideas with identifiable catalysts.

Investor interest in BUY ideas building up

Despite our near-term cautious view on the market, investor interest (particularly from long-only investors) on BUY ideas is on the rise. We attribute this rise to large cash positions in portfolios, and to investors' belief that both economy and markets will recover with a time lag.

Four classes of BUY ideas

We highlight (i) long-term structural BUYs (large-cap stocks, beneficiaries of structural drivers of Indian economy), (ii) mid-cap BUY ideas (beneficiaries of structural drivers, could become tomorrow's large caps), (iii) "Right business, wrong price" ideas (stocks where we like the business fundamentally but believe that investors should enter at lower price, and (iv) Trading BUY ideas (stocks with identifiable catalysts, which could lead to significant share price appreciation in the near term).

Long term structural BUYs

We believe structural drivers of the Indian economy are: (i) increase in infrastructure investments (ii) sustainable increase in domestic consumption, (iii) rising energy security and (iv) cost arbitrage in services and manufacturing. Top ideas on these themes are ICICI bank, BHEL, Bharti, Cairn, Sun Pharma, Sterlite and M&M.

Mid-cap BUYs

Our favourite mid-cap BUYs are Exide, IBREL, GSPL and OnMobile.

"Right business wrong price" ideas

We fundamentally like Maruti, Hero Honda, HDFC, Reliance Industries and NTPC. But we think investors should enter these stocks at lower prices to maximize returns.

Trading BUY ideas

We believe near term positive catalysts exist for Suzlon, SAIL and Axis Bank.

The most liquid and the most under-owned

Axis bank, Suzlon, BHEL, HDFC, Bharti, ICICI and Reliance are most liquid (average trading volume between USD50m to USD250m). Our analysis shows OnMobile, Sterlite, Cairn, GSPL, Reliance and Suzlon are under-owned relative to institutional ownership levels in the market

Investor interest in BUY ideas building up

Despite our cautious view on the market for the near term, investors (particularly long-only investors) are becoming increasingly interested in BUY ideas. We believe this is because:

- 1) Investors have large cash holdings in portfolios – both domestic and foreign
- 2) Many investors believe that current low commodity prices (leading to further decline in inflation and narrowing down of fiscal and current account deficits), declining interest rates and cheap stock valuations are paving the way for the next bull market, albeit with a time lag.

Our best BUY ideas

We are highlighting the topmost BUY ideas in each sector. Our BUY ideas are divided into four groups according to varied investor interests (depending on whether they are long only or hedge funds, or whether they are large-cap focused or mid-cap focused).

- 1) Long-term structural BUY: These are frontline large-cap stocks that are likely to benefit from the structural growth drivers of the Indian economy in the long term. We believe the structural drivers include: (i) increase in infrastructure investments driven by the need to improve infrastructure (power, roads, port and airports, irrigation etc.) and supported by rising domestic savings rate (up from 22% in mid-1990s to 35% in 2008), (ii) sustainable increase in domestic consumption, especially in durables (driven by low product penetration coupled with increasing affluence, improving demographics and increasing urbanisation), (iii) rising energy security, driven by new oil and gas discoveries and acquisition of overseas oil fields, and (iv) cost arbitrage in services and manufacturing, leading to continuation of outsourcing from developed economies into India (and other emerging economies). Even though some of these structural drivers have come under cyclical pressure, the long-term positive impact of these drivers on the economy (and hence, on corporate earnings and share prices) is undeniable.
- 2) Mid-cap BUY: These are relatively small second-tier stocks that benefit from one or more of the structural drivers, and have the potential to become tomorrow's large caps.
- 3) Right business, wrong price: We like the business fundamentally and believe in management's ability to execute the business plans for these stocks. But we also believe that investors should enter these stocks at a price slightly lower than the current market price to maximise returns. These stocks are also likely to benefit from one or more of the structural drivers.
- 4) Trading BUY: These are stocks with identifiable catalysts, which could lead to significant share price appreciation in the near term. The fundamental medium-term recommendation on some of these stocks could be "Reduce", but we believe there could be some near-term upside.

Are our top BUYs over-owned?

A common criticism of Buy ideas in the present market (where investors' focus have narrowed down to a small set of large-cap good management names) is that these ideas are consensus favourites and hence over-owned by institutional investors. We therefore attempt to screen over-owned stocks from our best BUY list. For the overall Indian stock market, we estimate 43.3% is free float, and FIIs own 14.2% of the market while domestic institutions own 9.8%. So FIIs and DIIs own 55% of overall free-float market cap. If for any stock, the total institutional holding (as proportion of free float) is higher than 55%, we classify it as over-owned relative to the market.

Recommendation structure

All share prices are as at market close on 4 February 2009 otherwise stated. Stock recommendations are based on absolute upside (downside), which we define as  $(\text{target price} - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$ . If the upside is 10% or more, the recommendation is BUY. If the downside is 10% or more, the recommendation is REDUCE. For stocks where the upside or downside is less than 10%, the recommendation is HOLD. In addition, we have key buy and key sell lists in each market, which are our most commercial and/or actionable BUY and REDUCE calls and are limited to at most five key buys and five key sells in each market at any point in time.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

*In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
