JLR volumes remain robust

Jaguar Land Rover's (JLR) January volume scorecard of 20,377 units was a shade above our expectations, putting the company well on track to meeting its full-year guidance of ~240,000 units. JLR's good run was led by the Land Rover brand which recorded its second highest volumes in FY11. Other luxury car majors-Audi, BMW and Mercedes-also kicked off the year with strong numbers across geographies. A key highlight for the month was the robust growth posted by all the majors in the EU (led by Germany). Sustained momentum in the luxury car market, specifically the US and China, and in new product launches suggests a healthy volume run-rate in the months to come. We have a BUY rating on Tata Motors (TTMT) with a target price of Rs 1,500.

JLR's volume scorecard

- JLR's total volumes stood at 20,377 units (+25% YoY, -5% MoM). Jaguar volumes came in at 3,056 units (+3% YoY, -30% MoM), while that of Land Rover stood at 17,321 units (+30% YoY, +2% MoM).
- Our FY11 volume estimate for JLR builds in ~24% volume growth (monthly run-rate of ~20,012 units).
- ÷ As in the past, the US market exhibited strong growth. The UK market too continued with a healthy run-rate.

(Note: EU new car registrations have not been reported so far for January '11)

Global luxury market review

- Luxury majors reported robust volumes for the month. While the US and ٠ China continue to support volume momentum, the EU-from where recovery is anticipated—reported heartening numbers as well.
- Audi AG started the year with a ~23% jump in sales, bucking the trend to ÷ record significant growth in all core European markets. Sales of BMW brand vehicles increased 30% in January-the company expects growth rates to remain strong over the next few months, while it believes the pace to slow a bit in the second half of the year due to the base effect. Mercedes-Benz had record January sales with a 23% increase.
