VIEW POINT: ANOTHER UP MORNING

Markets are likely to build on their Thursday gains this morning. Shorts were pruned in the Nifty, which is evident from the discount dropping to 13 points from 24 accompanied by a reduction in the OI. FIIs have covered some of their shorts. Large caps, barring IT, also added to their overnight positions, which show it was not merely a short covering affair.

The volumes were lower as the markets opened with an upward gap. Cautious investors, waiting for a correction, did not whole-heartedly participate in the upswing. There are specific stocks that look good, which we are recommending based on the F&O data and some cash stocks, which are consolidating well. The Sensex has a resistance at 14362 and the Nifty at 4230. These appear to be strong resistances and should be difficult to cross. But a weekend close above these marks could be really bullish. A practical way out may be to lighten positions ahead of these marks and go long again if you see them being crossed in the last half an hour.

THE INDICATOR*Across the Atlantic

U.S. stocks rallied for a second day on Thursday, as investors were heartened that a stronger-than-expected 0.9% rise in May producer prices failed to spook the bond market, keeping bond yields in check.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 71.38 points, or 0.53%, to 13,553.73. Twenty-three of the Dow's 30 components were positive, led by a 4.7% jump in General Motors.

At the same time, the S&P 500 added 7.30 points, or 0.48%, to 1522.97, and the Nasdaq climbed 17.10 points, or 0.66%, to 2599.41

Helping the move were hopes that the rate-related plunge of recent days is over, or at least moderating. The 10-year Treasury was down 3/32 in price, yielding 5.21%, and the 30-year bond was off 7/32, yielding 5.30%.

Both stock and bond traders pored over the latest incoming data for clues about inflation and the overall health of the economy. Before the opening bell, the Labor Department said its producer price index for May showed that inflation ticked higher at the wholesale level.

The headline index rose 0.9%, which was slightly above projections. The core index, excluding food and energy, rose an expected 0.2%. The core rate has increased 1.6% year over year, up from April's 1.5% rise, but is within the Federal Reserve's comfort range of 1% to 2%.

Crude oil jumped $1.39 to end the day at $67.65 a barrel, its highest level since late April. Meanwhile, precious metals overcame early weakness. Gold rose $3.20 to $655.90 an ounce, and silver was up 10.5 cents at $13.16 a barrel.

Elsewhere on the economic docket, the government said initial jobless claims were unchanged from last week at 311,000. The less-volatile four-week moving average rose by 3,750 to 311,250.

As for earnings, Goldman Sachs posted a second-quarter profit of $2.33 billion, or $4.93 a share, up 1% from the year-ago quarter. Analysts expected earnings of $4.79 a share, according to Thomson First Call. Still, worries about the subprime market sank shares by $7.89, or 3.4%, to $225.75.

Bear Stearns also posted second-quarter results before the open but said that profits fell to $361.7 million, or $2.52 a share, down 33% from last year. Excluding items, the investment bank earned $3.40 a share, falling short of estimates. After falling by 2.3%, the stock rebounded to rise 11 cents, or 0.1%, at $149.60.

Goldman and Bear Stearns are among several investment banks reporting this week. Lehman Brothers topped estimates on Tuesday. Morgan Stanley is set to report next week.
