Karur Vysya Bank (Rs293) - Out Performer

Target Price: Rs350

Rakesh Kumar
rakesh.kumar@karvy.com

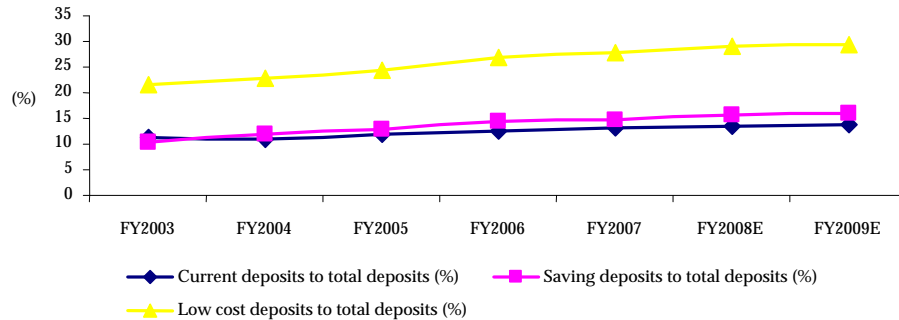

A technology driven bank would improve on all the parameters mainly due to strong regional presence, un-levered balance sheet, steady growth in low-cost deposits (LCDs), stringent credit appraisal & prudent lending system in place and hedged investment portfolio. Post year 2009, if RBI (Reserve bank of India) permits foreign entities to increase their stake in private banks then the bank's valuation would unlock. We increase our target price to Rs350 from Rs285 due to strong margin and expected improvement in asset quality. We rate the stock as an Out Performer.

Source: Company and Karvy Estimates

Steady growth in low-cost deposits share: The bank is expected to increase CASA share on the back of strong regional presence, expansion in newer zones and leveraging of strong technology platform. We expect that CASA share would grow to 29% in FY08 from 27.7% in FY07. The bank has been managing its liability side prudently; the bank has not gone for tier II capital financing in last decade. Recently, the fund raised from the right issue would fund credit growth going forward.

Strong profitability and margin: Robust liability-side management and growth in high yielding advances would succor the bank's net interest margin (NIM) at 3.5%. The bank's regional presence helps in identifying prospective clients and containing non-performing assets. Expected growth in commission, exchange and foreign exchange businesses and cost containment would improve return ratios; return on equity (RoE) would increase to 17.3% in FY08 from 16.5% in FY07.

Enhancement in asset quality: Stringent credit appraisal and containment in slippages would improve the bank's asset quality. We expect that gross non-performing assets and net NPAs would decline by 6.5% and 9.2% respectively to Rs.1.9 bn and Rs.145 mn respectively. In percentage term, GNPA and NNPA would reduce to 2.2% and 0.17% respectively. Provision coverage ratio would increase marginally to 92.5% in FY08.

Comfortable capital adequacy: As on end-March, the bank had Tier I and Tier II capital of 14.04% and 0.47% respectively. The bank's book is completely un-leveraged and there is no sub-ordinated debt. We assume that the bank would not raise any tier II capital to fund its credit offtake growth. In FY08, bank's Tier I and tier II would be 13.39% and 0.56% respectively.

Quarterly result analysis

In 4 Q FY07, the bank reported core operating income better than our estimates; reported NII was Rs.996 mn against our estimates of Rs.861 mn and reported bottmline was Rs.529 mn against our expectation of Rs.566 mn. Strong growth in interest income from advances and reduction in operating expenses reflected in 19% growth in net profit. The bank's GNPA and NNPA declined by 9% and 64% to Rs.2 bn and Rs.160 mn respectively.

Valuation

We expect in FY08, the bank's net profit would increase by 23% to Rs.1.96 bn and estimated book value and adjusted book value would be Rs245 and Rs236 respectively. According to the Gordon growth method, the bank's intrinsic worth is Rs350 per share. We rate the stock as an Out Performer with a target price of Rs350.
