Source : Advance Get

Outlook for the day

NIFTY opened on an optimistic note and traded with positive bias for most part of the trading session (this kind of a significant rise was not anticipated). The Sectoral Indices also witnessed upside (which was coupled with short-covering and fresh buying). NIFTY has witnessed strong support near 4100 levels and has bounced back sharply to close above its multiple resistance level of 4200 which suggests that a short-term upside cannot be ruled out.

The coming trading session is expected to trade with a positive bias and on the the upside NIFTY may test 4240-4260 levels, if it convincingly trades above 4220 levels. The immediate support for NIFTY is at 4180-4170 levels and a further downside can be expected if it trades above such levels, though this seems unlikely for the coming trading session. The short term investors are advised to book partial profits at higher levels.
