VIEW POINT: NERVOUS START TO A NEW SERIES

This was the first time in the history since June 2004, when a derivative settlement came to an end with an open interest less than the amount with which the series began. The 50 odd points discount with which the Nifty February Futures ended Thursday will ensure that we have a subdued opening, as far as the Futures are concerned.

The Dow recovered a 200 point loss and then rose another 207 points to close the day on a buoyant note following a conference call by the beleaguered MBIA, a bond insurer who posted massive losses but assured gullible analysts that its AAA rating will hold as it scrambles for capital. With Google disappointing with its numbers that came after the markets closed, expect the US markets to open lower again today. Our markets may open slightly higher. Approach the new series with an open mind.

THE INDICATORACROSS THE ATLANTIC

U.S. stocks rallied Thursday, but still ended January with substantial losses, as a shaky market swung down on MBIA Inc.'s losses only to reverse higher when the bond insurer said it did not believe its triple-A rating was in jeopardy

After falling close to 200 points earlier, the Dow Jones Industrial Average turned around and rose 207.53 points, or 1.67%, to 12,650.36. McDonald and Home Depot were the best performers on the index, each rising more than 4%

Similarly, the S&P 500 and the Nasdaq Composite retraced losses and moved into the black. The S&P 500 gained 22.69 points, or 1.68%, to 1378.50, and the Nasdaq advanced by 40.68 points, or 1.74%, to 2389.86.

While stocks managed to reverse their initial losses, the day marks the end to a gruesome month for equities. The Dow fell 4.6%, the S&P 500 lost 6.1%, and the Nasdaq gave back a whopping 9.9% in January.

Among individual names, Citigroup, Goldman Sachs, and Bear Stearns all finished in positive territory after starting in the red.

Stocks had opened weaker after the Labor Department said initial jobless claims soared by 69,000 last week to 375,000, a troubling sign for employment strength a day ahead of the government's January nonfarm payroll numbers

Traders were also focusing on bond insurers after MBIA had a write down of $3.5 billion in the fourth quarter, leading to a loss of more than $2 billion.

During the previous session, a rally that followed the Federal Reserve's decision to cut interest rates ended abruptly after Fitch downgraded bond insurer FGIC to double-A from triple-A.

The triple-A ratings are key to the insurers' ability to write new business, and any downgrades would also likely cut the ratings on securities that are already insured. In turn, that could have the ripple of effect of forcing writedowns by companies that currently own the instruments.

MBIA and competitor Ambac Financial opened sharply lower but finished 11% and 6.8% higher, respectively.

Ahead of the new session, Procter & Gamble topped expectations on both the top and bottom lines for its fiscal second quarter, but the company offered guidance that is below the Thomson First Call estimate. Still, P&G was up 47 cents, or 0.7%, to end at $65.56.

Elsewhere, Colgate-Palmolive said it beat the consensus forecast when one-time charges were stripped out, as the company benefited from a weak dollar and overseas sales. Colgate climbed $3.19, or 4.3%, to $76.69.

Meanwhile, the Chicago purchasing managers' index slid to a reading of 51.5 in January from 56.4 in December. Economists were expecting the index to come in at a reading of 52.

Commodity prices were mixed for the session. Crude oil fell 58 cents to $91.75 a barrel, while gold futures added $1.70 to close at $928 an ounce.

Google, Altera and Electronic Arts were posting quarterly results following the close. Google slumped 8% in extended trading after its results fell short of expectations.
