

Weekly

Technical View:

During the week-ended 02.02.07, Nifty and Sensex have exhibited a bullish candlestick with a longer lower shadow. This has bullish implications and it indicates that the bias is positive and that there is buying support emerging at lower levels. Also, the Indices have registered a new high. This indicates that the upward momentum is being maintained.

On the average front, the Indices are trading above the 5week simple moving average. Further the 5-week simple moving average is above the 20-week simple moving average and the 20-week is itself above the 50-week simple moving average. This indicates that the trend as signified by the moving averages is bullish.

Also, the Indices are exhibiting the formation of higher bottoms and higher tops, which again indicates that the trend is positive.

Based on the chart pattern developed todate, the support level for Nifty is at 4070 level and for the Sensex the support is around 14,100 level. Violation of these levels will have bearish implications and hence, one may use these levels as the stop loss levels for long positions for the time being.

On the resistance front, the Nifty faces resistance at around 4,250-4,350 level and the Sensex at around 14,700-15,000 level..

Note:

- Short-term trading on the basis of technical is a high risk and skill oriented venture and may result in huge losses also. Traders doing so are doing at their own risk. We are not responsible for any damages.

- Mostly it is not advisable to buy/sell a stock if it touches the target price first and then comes within recommended range of buy/sell.

- Never wait for actual target to be reached book profits slightly before target price, if prices show sluggishness. Always follow stop losses to avoid larger losses.
