Standalone, P/E on diluted basis

SQFY06 results are below our expectations at the operating profit level. YoY, revenues of Bharat Forge grew 29%, EBITDA is up 12.7% and PAT is up 29% at Rs533m.

The 29% revenue growth to Rs4b was driven by 49% YoY increase in domestic sales. EBITDA margin was at 24.7% compared with 28.2% in 3QFY05 due to higher raw material costs and other expenses.

- In a consolidated basis, total revenues grew QoQ by 37% to Rs9.6b and PAT by 2% to Rs626m. Consolidated EBITDA margins stood at 16.1%. For 9MFY06 EBITDA margins are at 18.6%, in line with our expectations.
- BFL entered into a JV (51:49) with FAW Corporation of China to manufacture a wide range of highly engineered forged auto components. This JV will likely catapult BFL to become the largest forging components player in China.
- After setting up its dual shore model, BFL is successfully leveraging its capability and has recently concluded longterm contracts with three global OEMs for supply of machined power-train components.BFL trades at a P/E of 25x FY07E and 20.9x FY08E on fully diluted consolidated earnings. Given the bright prospects, high growth visibility and clear road map for future growth, we maintain a Buy on the stock.

Export momentum slows down in 3QFY06

BFL has recently commissioned its newly expanded plant through which most of the export orders will be executed. In accordance with OEM requirements, components manufactured in the new plant must be routed through a validation and testing cycle. Hence exports in 3QFY06 were lower than expectation. We expect the strong sales momentum to continue and exports to register robust growth in forthcoming quarters.

Operating performance under pressure

In 3QFY06, Operating margins were at 24.7% versus 28.2% in 3QFY05 and 25.8% in 2QFY06. Operating margin on a YoY basis have been under pressure due to higher raw material cost (an increase of 100bp YoY) and a steep rise in other expenses (of 220bp YoY). QoQ also, margins were lower on account of higher other expenditure (increase of 110bp). Other expenditure includes one-time forex losses on currency debt.

Standalone profit grew 28.6% in 3QFY06 – higher than EBITDA growth of 13%

BFL recorded a substantial increase in other income at Rs161m, mainly on account of interest earned on the idle GDR funds that the company raised. As a result of strong topline growth and higher other income, PAT was Rs533m, an increase of 29% YoY

Consolidated PAT — 17% higher than standalone Total revenues grew 37% QoQ to Rs9.6b and PAT grew 2% QoQ to Rs626m. Consolidated PAT in 3QFY06 is 17% higher than standalone profits. On a consolidated basis, EBITDA margins are at 16.1% in 3QFY06 compared with 20.3% (2QFY06). For 9MFY06, EBITDA margins are at 18.6%, which is in line with our expectations.

JV with FAW, China fully completes dual shore model

BFL announced its much-awaited China venture with FAW Corporation, the largest automotive player in China (estimated market share in excess of 30%). BFL will have a 52 % stake in the venture, which will make components for cars and trucks for the Chinese market, The venture — FAW Bharat Forge Changchun Ltd. — will have a factory located at Changchun in northern China with an annual forging capacity of 100,000 metric tons (20% of BFL's existing capacity) and an employee strength of 1,700. This reflects BFL's technological leadership and global market strength. The JV will enable BFL to become the largest forging components player in China.

| The JV will raise BFL's total forging capacity to 600,000 MT | | | | | | |

The Chinese deal is BFL's first overseas joint venture as compared to the earlier deals, where BFL had purchased existing units outright (in Germany, USA and Sweden). BFL was able to acquire these units at inexpensive rates (0.2x sales) as several auto part units in western countries have been facing bankruptcy owing to high labor cost and unviable manufacturing expenses.

The rationale supporting BFL's new venture in China are (1) it is a low cost country and it makes sense to set up a new unit; (2) it is emerging as one of the largest countries in terms of automobile sales. Presently China accounts for a mere 5% of BFL's consolidated global revenues. If BFL wants to emerge as the largest global player, it would have had to establish a presence in China sooner or later.

Dual shore model helps BFL in new order wins

The Dual Shore Capability model is working well for BFL. The company is successfully leveraging its capability and has recently concluded long-term contracts with three global OEMs to supply machined power-train components.

Valuation and view

We remain positive on BFL's dual shore model and management's global vision. The company is close to reaching revenues of US$1b by FY08. In fact, we believe it may hit this target earlier. The recent initiatives of the global technology center, its acquisitions and recently formed JV with FAW, China- make BFL a world leader in its class.

BFL remains a preferred vendor for several global OEMs and is the lowest cost producer with the highest technological capabilities – a combination which is difficult to beat. Hence, we remain extremely positive on its growth prospects in the future.

Bharat Forge: an investment profile

Company description

Bharat Forge is the second largest forging manufacturer in the world. Its recent acquisitions has left the company only second to Thessian Krup. Primarily, focused on automobile forgings Bharat Forge has a near monopoly in the commercial vehicle forging segment in India. The company has substantial geographic distribution of sales as well.

Key investment arguments

- BFL's addressable market opportunity stands at US$10b per annum and BFL is targeting a share of US$1b by FY08, nearly twice its existing turnover. We believe BFL is well placed to more than double its existing 5% market share in three years and has a clear road map to achieve this.
- Forgings and casting by the mere nature of the manufacturing process are very popular outsourcing items.

Key investment risks

Aggressive inorganic growth strategy might lead to increased debt levels or further equity dilution.

Recent developments

BFL announced its much-awaited China venture with FAW Corporation, the largest automotive player in China with an annual forging capacity of 100,000 metric tons (20% of BFL's existing capacity)

Valuation and view

- In FY06, we expect consolidated revenues of Rs.32b and a PAT of Rs2.9b, resulting in a fully diluted EPS of Rs11.8
- BFL trades at a P/E of 25x FY07E and 20.9x FY08E on diluted consolidated earnings of Rs15.6 and Rs18.7.
- Given the bright prospects, high growth visibility and clear road map for future growth, we maintain a Buy on the stock

Sector view

- Auto ancillary sector is witnessing strong demand from global OEMs attempting to offshore components and reduce costs.
- Forgings and casting due to environmental and health norms have been witnessing the strongest demand from global players.
- We maintain an overweight stance on the sector
