VIEW POINT: RALLY ON THE CARDS

Markets are likely to recover and recoup majority of the fall of last two sessions. Markets will brush worries on $100 crude and specter of higher inflation under the carpet and rejoice on falling interest rates.

US markets has concluded that Federal Reserve is more concerned about the economy grinding to a halt than prices heating up and Fed will have to cut interest rates till growth is visible. Such policies may backfire into a stagflation situation but for now markets are cheering prospects of further cuts in interest rates.

Support for the Sensex lies at 17500 and the resistance at 18250.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 90.04 points, up 0.7%, to 12427.26. The Standard & Poor's 500 gained 0.8%, or 11.25 points, to 1360.03. The technology-focused Nasdaq Composite Index rose 0.9%, or 20.90 points, to 2327.10

The Federal Reserve confirmed that it is willing to do more to help the economy find its footing, but warned that nagging inflation worries may necessitate swift rate hikes once growth resumes, minutes of the latest meetings.

Concern kept stocks in the red for much of the Wednesday's session. But a rally took hold in the afternoon after minutes of the last Fed meeting bolstered Wall Street's confidence that the central bank will cut its key interest-rate target next month to shore up the economy, despite expectations that prices will keep rising.

The Labor Department reported that inflation showed no sign of abating in January, complicating the work of Fed officials. The Fed projected economic growth to slow in 2008 to between 1.3 and 2.0%, down from the 1.8 to 2.5% forecast in November.

Hewlett-Packard reported higher fiscal first-quarter sales and earnings that topped forecasts. The personal computer and printer maker also boosted its current-quarter profit outlook. Shares jumped 7.9% Wednesday, boosting the Dow industrials, of which HP is a component, and the tech-fueled Nasdaq composite. Hewlett-Packard helped support the tech sector. Other big tech gainers included IBM, Dell, Oracle and Applied Materials.

KKR Financial, a listed arm of private equity firm Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co. has delayed repaying billions in debt amid the credit market fallout. The company is in restructuring talks with its creditors.

Market breadth was positive. On the New York Stock Exchange, winners beat losers by over three to two on volume of almost 1.47 billion shares. On the Nasdaq, advancers topped decliners 4 to 3 on volume of 2.30 billion shares.

Crude oil prices spiked to a record settle of $100.01 per barrel on worries about potential OPEC production cuts paired with the fallout from a Texas refinery fire.
