VIEW POINT: SOME RESPITE IN SIGHT

The market behaviour Monday was slightly awkward. It put on a brave face in the morning when it came to reacting to a Pak emergency and the possibility of further write-offs at Citibank and then weakened at noon. We will now have to watch out whether it was one-day affair or there is change in the way the markets think and react.

As the Dow managed to recoup two thirds of the intraday losses the Asian markets are generally higher, with the exception of Hon Kong, which is brooding over the delay in the plans to allow mainland investors to buy Hong Kong shares. I think, these reasons are not enough to push the Sensex lower. We may in fact see a higher open and then it will be a function of what the local punters do. It may be prudent to trade light.

THE INDICATORACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Wall Street scaled back its losses Monday as investors looked beyond Citigroup Inc.'s likely write off of $11 billion more in credit-related losses to focus on stocks outside the embattled financial sector.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average lost 51.70 points, or 0.4%, to 13,543.40, and the S&P 500 was down 7.48 points, or 0.5%, at 1502.17. The Nasdaq gave back 15.20 points, or 0.5%, at 2795.18.

Weighing on the mood all day was news out of Citigroup that it would record writedowns of as much as $11 billion to cover added losses on mortgage-backed securities and collateralized debt obligations, an announcement that came as CEO Chuck Prince resigned under pressure.

Citi also restated its third-quarter profit lower by $166 million to fix the value of certain debt obligations, and its shares were down 4.9% to $35.90, a 52-week low.

Uncertainty about how deep the credit crisis really is have had the markets on edge since the summer, and despite the occasional sign that it's clearing up, big banks and financial companies continue to reveal that they still don't have a firm grasp on just how much pain they'll ultimately feel.

Indeed, Federal Reserve Governor Frederic Mishkin said during a speech that the stress of the past few months "has reminded investors and policymakers alike that financial instability, if allowed to develop fully, could have severely negative consequences not only for the functioning of financial markets but also, importantly, for the macroeconomic prospects of our country, as well as others."

Stocks pared their losses after the Institute for Supply Management reported nonmanufacturing sectors of the U.S. economy in October grew more than economists expected, with the ISM index rising to 55.8% from 54.8% in September

One of the top stories overseas was PetroChina, whose global market value surpassed $1 trillion after its listing of shares in Shanghai, making it the biggest company in the world, ahead of Exxon Mobil Corp.

After the stock offer, Bear Stearns downgraded PetroChina to underperform from peer perform, citing its valuation. PetroChina's U.S.-listed shares plunged 12.9% to $222.10.

As for commodities, oil was down $1.95 to $93.98 a barrel, and gold was up $2.30 at $810.80 an ounce.
