Key to CLSA investment rankings: BUY: Total return expected to exceed market return AND provide 20% or greater absolute return; O-PF: Total return expected to be greater than market return but less than 20% absolute return; U-PF: Total return expected to be less than market return but expected to provide a positive absolute return; SELL: Total return expected to be less than market return AND to provide a negative absolute return. For relative performance, we benchmark the 12-month total return (including dividends) for the stock against the 12-month forecast return (including dividends) for the local market where the stock is traded.

CLSA changed the methodology by which it derives its investment rankings on 1 January 2012. The stocks covered in this report are subject to the revised methodology. We have made no changes to the methodologies through which analysts derive price targets - our views on intrinsic values and appropriate price targets are unchanged by this revised methodology. # 1. INDIA INFLATION – Food inflation jumps, core lower India's March WPI inflation came in at 6.9% YoY, slightly higher than market expectations. The upside surprise was driven primarily by a jump in food composite inflation. However, non-manufactured goods (i.e. core) inflation eased to a two-year low, although partly flattered by last year's high base. Disturbingly, data revisions continue their upward bias with the January inflation reading revised to 6.9% from 6.6%. Overall, today's inflation details do not affect our expectation of a token 25bp reporate cut to 8.25% by RBI in its annual monetary policy scheduled for 17 April. We expect RBI to keep CRR at 4.75% for now.

Revisions distort the signals from sequential seasonally adjusted WPI data, but they suggest an anticipated cooling off that should not be ignored. Thus, core inflation eased to 4.4% 3m/3m (saar) in March from 8.7% in December. Headline WPI inflation was slightly lower at 6.5% 3m/3m (saar) in March from 7.1% in December

Source: CEIC, CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets

At 8.5% YoY, food composite inflation in March was higher than core inflation for the second consecutive month. The gap between the two has widened significantly, to 3.8ppt from a mere 0.2ppt

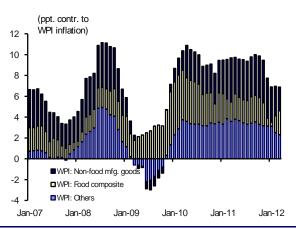

Jan-10

Jan-12

in February. RBI has been more focussed on core inflation but the decline exaggerates the underlying trend. This is because, apart from base effect, India has not adjusted local fuel prices, which in turn makes suppressed inflation a legitimate worry. For example, a 10% hike in the price of diesel will add 0.5-0.7ppt to the headline WPI inflation rate. Also, persistently high food inflation will eventually adversely affect core inflation.

WPI inflation - key drivers

Source: CEIC, CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets

The anticipated rate cut is largely a token move and RBI is being opportunistic given the softening in inflation that will likely reverse in 2-3 months. The tone of the policy statement will be less dovish than market expectations. RBI will focus more on the risks to the inflation outlook, balance of payments (BoP) strains and fiscal laxity. It will signal its inability to move aggressively on rates because of these constraints and because of the long overdue fuel price adjustments. The sustainable medium- to long-term solution for India's elevated inflation is with the government, not with RBI. We expect market expectations of the total quantum of rate cuts to be scaled back to closer to our forecast of 50bp (including the expected rate cut on 17 April). BoP concerns (see Triple-A Fault lines, 4 April) will also limit the interest rate cuts RBI can deliver.

The fifth year and counting

After its recent 15% correction, 2012 is now Reliance's fifth straight year of relative under-performance. We foresee some triggers emerging by year-end but singular variables, such as a gas price hike or the telecom foray, may not be enough for a sustained re-rating. Reliance needs to create a deep portfolio of projects to rekindle investor interest. Further, these may need to be in the energy chain; its ~US$8.5bn non-core portfolio has been a drag on performance. Reliance has been more reticent here than we had expected clouding its long term outlook.

Reliance has now been under-performing for five years

After its 15% correction since mid-Feb, Reliance's stock is now under-performing the Sensex in 2012 - the fifth year in succession. Over this time, FY09-14 earnings have been cut 18-44%. This is continuing; we recently cut FY12-14 EPS by 2-7% to factor in lower KG-D6 volumes and SOTP by Rs25/sh to factor in a 30% cut in D1-D3 reserves to 7tcf. Our current FY13 estimate (~Rs69/sh, similar to consensus) implies a ~30% rise in EPS over the 4Q run-rate. This is predicated on a weaker currency (Rs53/US$), a US$1/bbl rebound in GRMs and higher other income but we concede downside risks.

Triggers may emerge by end 2012 but may be short-lived

We expect the EPS momentum to start rebounding when the polyester expansions begin to come on-stream from early 2013. By this time, we expect the 4G telecom launch, indications of higher gas prices and more detail on the retail foray to help. These triggers are likely to short-lived, however, as singular variables may not be enough for a re-rating. For example, while higher gas prices will renew the E&P thrust, NAV impact is limited (US\$1 = 1.5%) while EPS impact (US\$1 =  $\sim$ 3%) will accrue only from FY15. Similarly, our telecom analyst cautions that infra challenges and lack of a 4G device eco-system may force Reliance to bundle 2G voice implying higher capex.

Reliance needs to build a deep portfolio of projects in the core energy chain

In our view, therefore, Reliance needs to create a portfolio of +15-20 projects like its global energy peers have, to rekindle investor interest. Historically, sustained project growth has driven stock performance by driving EPS growth across cycles. This is now sorely missing; ten year profit Cagr has dipped below 20% for the first time in history.

Reliance can take on another ~US$30bn of projects but has been reticent

Reliance has been more reticent on new projects than we had expected it to be, though; perhaps because of poor returns from the US$17bn KG-D6, RPET projects and the +50% fall in US gas prices since the time it acquired its shale gas assets. For example, gross block will be flat over FY10-15 despite US$12bn outlay on downstream projects as the olefins, IGCC projects are yet to commence in earnest. Indeed, given its cash (US$15bn), operating cashflow (US$6-7bn annually) and capital serving needs, it can easily invest an additional ~US$30bn without stressing its balance sheet.

Non-core investments have been a drag on returns and stock performance

Further, these projects may need to be in the core energy chain. Its ~US$8.5bn noncore investments (~20% of balance sheet) across multiple verticals have been a drag shaving off ~3ppt from ROACE; the retail venture, for example, is still incurring losses even after five years of operation. Nonetheless, with the stock trading at 11x PE and a 25% discount to our NAV and triggers emerging by end-2012, we maintain O-PF.

Trend and break up of Reliance's consolidated US$ Ebitda

■Refining ■Petchem ■Oil & gas ■Others

Source: CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets

Break-up of Reliance's consolidated net profit

Reliance has historically been able to grow earnings at at-least a 20% Cagr over any ten year period

It has now slipped below this trajectory

In our view, this is driven by the lack of new project growth that has historically driven its earnings growth across commodity cycles

Indeed, while its capital base will be up ~40% over FY10-15...

... its productive capacity (gross block) is broadly flat over this period

This is unprecedented in Reliance's history

Reliance's reticence is probably partly explained by the exceptionally poor performance of all of its major projects in the recent past

For example, the US$9bn KG-D6 project and the US$8bn RPET project are delivering poor returns...

... while the US$1.5bn organised retail foray is yet to breakeven even after five years

FY06	46	(28)	23	20	Rel Weak	New project outlook muted on demerger after settlement between the Ambani brothers. RPET announced in FY07
FY07	72	56	23	25	Strong	Upswing in refining margins, large RPET and KG-D6 expansion project underway. KG-D6 resource base upgraded.
FY08	65	46	27	7	Strong	New ventures (retail, SEZ) and the RPET project promise outsized returns. Continued E&P exploration success and rising optimism on higher oil & gas resource base.
FY09	(33)	5	(9)	42	Weak	Impact of GFC, concerns on balance sheet and speculation of trading losses emerge. Sharp earnings downgrades as refining and petrochem margin worsened. New projects get pushed back. FY09 annual report suggests surprisingly high gross block.
FY10	41	(40)	1	56	Rel Weak	RPET and KG-D6 come on-stream, stock does well in absolute terms but underperforms. Foray into telecoms announced.
FY11	(2)	(13)	27	8	Weak	Concerns emerge on E&P volume ramp-up at the KG-D6 block. Earnings downgrades on lower downstream margins and fall in E&P volumes. Scale back of growth capex as well.
FY12	(22)	(14)	(0)	(8)	Weak	Earnings downgrades on lower downstream margins and sharp fall in E&P volumes. Continued tussle with the government and impact of CAG report also impacts valuations
FY13	(11)	(7)	11	5	Weak	Expectations of higher gas prices, FY12 underperformance and start of buyback drives recovery initially before weakness in downstream margins and drop in E&P volumes takes a toll

Reliance can afford a much more extensive project growth footprint

US$bn Comments

Indeed, our calculations suggest that Reliance can afford a much larger execution footprint...

... but taking on organic or inorganic growth opportunities of US$25-30bn without stressing the balance sheet

Starting Excess Cash as of Mar12	14.6	Cash and cash equivalents as of Mar12
Operating Cashflow over FY13-15	19.2	Cashflow after w-capital changes, taxes including other income
Stake sale to BP	0.0	This can bring in additional US$1.8bn
Internal accruals available	33.8	Total sources of cash over FY13-15
Petrochem expansions	8.6	On petrochem expansions, phase-II of KG-D6, Atlas JV etc
Upstream	1.6	On exploration and the KG-D6 satellite and R-Cluster plan
Shale Gas	(0.0)	Shale will likely be funded by internal accruals or additional debt
Normal Capex	8.0	Normal maintenance capex
Interest	1.3	Interest, dividend payments and buybacks
Debt repayments	6.6	Anticipated repayments; does not assume any new debt raising
Dividends	1.9	Expected dividends including taxes
Equity Buyback	1.2	Reliance has approved a US$2bn buyback
Committed Uses of Funds	22.1	Total likely uses of funds
Cash after Committed Outflow	11.7	Reliance will still have excess cash on its balance sheet
Domestic E&P	0.9	We build in additional capex in KG and NEC-25
Overseas E&P	0.6	On overseas investments
Investments	1.8	On telecoms, retail etc
Discretionary Uses of Cash	3.3	We model less than US$4bn on these opportunities
Ending Excess Cash as of Mar15	8.4	Reliance will still have over US$8bn in cash by Mar15
Additional equity available	4.0	Reliance can raise additional equity by selling treasury stock
Additional leverage available	16.6	Additional debt that Reliance can take assuming 50% net gearing and 2x Net Debt/Ebitda thresholds are not exceeded as of Mar15
Additional funds till Mar15	20.6	Total incremental funds that can be raised

With a few exceptions ...

... most large global energy and chemical companies are investing heavily for growth...

... with several project start-ups planned over the next few years

The US$100bn+	Club
Exxon	409	Portfolio of over 120 projects straddling 23bn boe of reserves and resources. 21 major project start-ups between 2012-14
Petrochina	279	Growth for liquids comes from Nanpu with productions 30kbpd in 2011 to 200kbpd by 2016; Growth for gas comes from Changqing, from 2bcfd in 2011 to 2.5bcfd by 2015, also Junggar Basin, with gas output from 0.2bcfd in 2011 to 0.5bcfd by 2016.
Shell	223	26 projects under construction with 14 start-ups in 2012-13, 6 in 2014-15 and 5 in 2016+. Looking to mature 36 projects that are 2014-2020 start-ups
Chevron	212	2 key project start-ups and 4 key project ramp-ups in 2011. Nearly 100 projects under various stages with $\sim\!40$ in construction or ramp-up phases. 28 project start-ups over 2012-14. 12 more projects where it expects FID in this timeframe
Petrobras	171	Plans to spend US$225bn over 2011-15 of which US$128bn in upstream. 19 large projects adding capacity of 2.3mbpd
Gazprom	148	Access to massive resources in Nadym-Pur-Taz, Yamal, Shtokman, Eastern Siberia and Far East. Several growth projects in subsidiary Gazpromneft.
BP	142	6 upstream major projects start-ups in 2012 with $\sim\!\!700\text{kboepd}$ of gross capacity and 9 in 2013-14 aggregating $\sim\!\!1\text{mboepd}$

US$50-100bn Clu	ıb
Sinopec	98	Growth for liquids will come from resumed production in Angola, alongside in-organic growth (Galp, Repsol blocks in Brazil) from parentco; Growth for gas comes from Puguang and Yuanba. Unconventional gas in Sichuan Basin could also contribute
Conoco	97	8 major projects aggregating US$5-6bn in capex to come on-stream in 2012
ENI	94	Over 20 project start-ups aggregating ~700kboepd by 2015
CNOOC	91	Four new projects in offshore China to come on-stream after aggressive M&A in the last few years. 16 projects are under construction but little visibility on organic growth; potential growth from joint exploration in South China Sea but it takes time
Statoil	87	Nine start-ups of 0.45kbpd in 2011-12, 11 start-ups of 1.1mbpd over 2013-16 and eight start-ups over 2017-20 of 0.8mbpd. Additional 100 projects in progress
Rosneft	82	Has access to large resources but near term Focus on cost control
BG	79	Identified route to increase access to LNG volumes to 20mt by 2015 and +30mt b 2020 from ~12mt currently. Has grown E&P reserves and resources by 14% Cagr over 2007-11 and has aggressive exploration targets. Four projects in Australia, three more FPSOs in Brazil over 2013-14. Six new projects on-stream in 2012.
Occidental	77	Spending in Permian, California, Mid Continent US and in Abu Dhabi
Lukoil	54	Targeting a 3.5% production Cagr over the next decade with six major overseas projects and nine projects in Russia. Start-ups spread over 2011-19

ine US$25-50bn	Club
ONGC	45	Over 30 projects under various stages aggregating over US$11bn in outlay. Also conceptualizing two large East Coast developments
Dow Chemical	41	Focus is lowering capex, cut costs and increase innovations. Selective expansions in emerging markets. Setting up 3mtpa Sadara unit, expected to start-up in 2015
Anadarko	39	Four oil-focused mega projects underway. Exploration in Mozambique, Brazil, East Africa, West Africa and GOM. Potentially ten large start-ups over the next decade
Apache	39	Two large LNG projects underway (Wheatstone and Kitimat), ten more E&P projects scheduled to start-up over 2012-16. Aggressive exploration targets for 2012
Formosa	30	Minor US$250m expansion in C5 recoveries and MTBE. Earmarked US$1.7bn for polymer capacity expansion at its US facilities in the next four years
EOG	30	US$7.5bn capex planned in 2012 on exploration and development of its US shale assets. Has a very large inventory of shale assets to be developed over time. Also working on Kitimat LNG projects
Woodside	30	Three major LNG developments (Pluto, Browse, Sunrise). Development of Laverda project which could have 100mboe of oil and continued exploration in Australia
CNR	37	Eight thermal in situ oil sand facilities to add 360kbpd to oil production capacity by 2026. US$7bn capex planned in 2012.
Devon	29	Will spend US$6-8bn annually over 2012-16, target of 6-8% production Cagr. Has large shale gas acreage and also focusing on two SAGD projects in Canada.
Reliance	47	US$3bn polyester projects on-stream by 2013-14 and US$8bn olefins/IGCC by 2015-16. Relatively small domestic E&P (US$4-5bn) and shale gas projects (US$3-4bn) also expected over the next five years. Also spending on consumer businesses like telecoms, retail where it is yet to prove itself.

This is in contrast with Reliance's investment plans which are much below historic levels

Augere - 1 circle - $0.0bn

Our telecom analyst, Deepti Chaturvedi, notes that even as mobile leader Bharti has launched India's first 4G–LTE-TDD network with data offering and will expand services across four circles, Reliance which owns 4G/Broadband Wireless Access spectrum in all 22 circles is yet to sign even a tower or infrastructure-sharing deal and is unlikely to commence its rollout before end-2012. Also, while LTE-TDD is fast evolving, the device ecosystem is in infancy and current regulatory restrictions under BWA licences, do now allow operators to offer voice services. Hence industry expects Reliance will also participate in upcoming 2G spectrum auction to offer voice and data services.

* Prior to 1 Jan 2012, our rating structure was: BUY = Expected to outperform the local market by >10%; O-PF = Expected to outperform the local market by 0-10%; U-PF = Expected to underperform the local market by 0-10%; SELL = Expected to underperform the local market by >10%.

Key to CLSA investment rankings: BUY: Total return expected to exceed market return AND provide 20% or greater absolute return; O-PF: Total return expected to be greater than market return but less than 20% absolute return; U-PF: Total return expected to be less than market return but expected to provide a positive absolute return; SELL: Total return expected to be less than market return AND to provide a negative absolute return. For relative performance, we benchmark the 12-month total return (including dividends) for the stock against the 12-month forecast return (including dividends) for the local market where the stock is traded.

CLSA changed the methodology by which it derives its investment rankings on 1 January 2012. The stocks covered in this report are subject to the revised methodology. We have made no changes to the methodologies through which analysts derive price targets - our views on intrinsic values and appropriate price targets are unchanged by this revised methodology. # Volume surprise continues

JLR's volumes have continued to surprise on the upside with Feb and Mar volumes coming in 5-16% above estimates boosted by strong Evoque demand. Rising proportion of China in volumes, operating leverage benefits and stable currencies have also improved margin outlook for JLR. In India, LCV and car volumes have improved in 4Q and profit outlook for India business is also improving. We upgrade FY13-14 EPS by 16-18% factoring in higher volumes in both JLR and India and anticipate upgrades by street in weeks ahead. We upgrade Tata Motors from O-PF to BUY with a TP of Rs370.

JLR's volumes continue to surprise positively

JLR's monthly global sales improved further in March with volumes at 36.5K units rising 51% YoY and 16% above estimates. This is the second month in a row that volumes have beaten our estimates handsomely. Evoque sales seem to have stabilized at the 10K level and demand outlook for the vehicle remains robust. The recent addition of a third shift at the Halewood plant has effectively increased JLR's total annual capacity to 390-400K units - enough for FY13 and debottlenecking measures are being planned to take the capacity further up by FY14. Industry premium vehicle demand remains strong as evidenced by the monthly sales of JLR's peers. More important, China sales of the industry were also strong over Feb and Mar, which should allay concerns of slowing China demand. We upgrade FY13/14 JLR volumes by 7% to 391K/422K units.

Improving margin outlook at JLR as well

Operating leverage benefits from higher volumes are fairly meaningful for JLR. Share of China in volumes has improved from 17% in 3Q to 19% in 4Q and should improve further in FY13. The principal currencies relevant to JLR's margins have been stable from 30 to 40. This has improved our outlook for JLR's margins and we now build in 18.6% EBITDA margins over FY13-14 (~17.5% previously).

Rising LCV and car volumes in India

India LCV volumes have improved substantially in 2HFY12 and we expect strong growth in FY13 backed by higher capacity at the Pantnagar and Dharwad plants. The launch of a new platform for non-Ace LCVs will also boost volumes in FY13. India car volumes (incl Nano) have picked up in 2H. However, outlook for trucks remains subdued with industry growth slowing down to -4% in Mar-12.We upgrade Tata's India volumes by 9-10% factoring in higher LCV/car volumes.

Upgrading FY13-14 EPS by 16-18%; upgrade from O-PF to BUY

We now build in JLR's capex at £2bn per year (£1.5bn before). Our estimates are 12-14% above consensus and we anticipate EPS upgrades by the street in coming weeks. A strong response to the new Range Rover platform that will be launched by end-CY12 could drive further upgrades to FY14 EPS. Upgrade to BUY.

Key to CLSA investment rankings: BUY: Total return expected to exceed market return AND provide 20% or greater absolute return; O-PF: Total return expected to be greater than market return but less than 20% absolute return; U-PF: Total return expected to be less than market return but expected to provide a positive absolute return; SELL: Total return expected to be less than market return AND to provide a negative absolute return. For relative performance, we benchmark the 12-month total return (including dividends) for the stock against the 12-month forecast return (including dividends) for the local market where the stock is traded.

CLSA changed the methodology by which it derives its investment rankings on 1 January 2012. The stocks covered in this report are subject to the revised methodology. We have made no changes to the methodologies through which analysts derive price targets - our views on intrinsic values and appropriate price targets are unchanged by this revised methodology. For further details of our new investment ranking methodology, please refer to our website.
