

In our last newsletter, we remembered a friend lost, we celebrated music events just past and we promised more Blues occasions and opportunities.

- International Blues Music Day (7 August) brought us great blues from some of our favourites:– Satin Tractor, Fatt Max, Velvet Bulldozer and Huw's Conmen.
- Many of our bands headed North to Paihia for the amazing Bay of Islands Jazz & Blues Festival. Great music! And jolly good weather this year.
- Thursday Blues Night (12 August) featured Blues led by jam captain Garry Spain, Dean McGaveston on drums, and Albi Collier, Dave Taylor, Pitt Ramsay, John Maydon's crew and Blues Machine.

At 11:59pm Tuesday 17 August, it all ended! NZ went into Covid-19 Level 4 delta lockdown – Kokomo Concert cancelled along with August Sunday Arvo and September Thursday and Ladies Sing the Blues.

At September Sunday Arvo, our Level 2 seated audience was thrilled by Al's Angels, Recycled, Conmen and The Toads.

But Covid-19 delta keeps on giving doesn't it, so watch this space 🖱

Meanwhile, here's something to celebrate!

We are very sad to report the loss of Mike Everard in August

We send our heartfelt condolences to Mike’s beloved wife Cheryle, their sons and whanau and musical family. We knew Mike well for his work with the Sid Attwell Band, Hybrid Blues and Tauranga Blues Jam and others.

But Mike was so much more than just a wonderful musician ... “he was the most humble, genuine, nice guy notwithstanding his musical abilities, and will be sorely missed by so many.” Look out for a special gig later this year to commemorate Mike’s life.
