

Full time tenure track position

Department of Public Health,

Public Health School, Faculty of Health Sciences, Ben-Gurion

University of the Negev

The Department of Public Health is recruiting a full time tenure track position starting October 2020 for an excellent candidate with PhD degree in Epidemiology or Biostatistics, Post-doctoral training, preferably in academic institutions abroad, excellent teaching skills (in Hebrew and English) particularly in biostatistics. Position requires teaching of basic and advanced biostatistics and epidemiology courses; conducting independent and collaborative research (both within department researches and researches from other academic institutions); publishing in a high rank peer review journals; securing research funding, preferably competitive grants; delivering statistical counselling to students and department staff. Detailed and updated Curriculum Vitae including education, previous employment, publications list, presentation in national and international conferences, academic forums, research grants and other relevant activities, should be send by mail to Savyon Oring, the secretary of the department (savyon@bgu.ac.il).

Application at:

https://bguacademicrecruitment.force.com/Recruiters/VF_BGUPositions?fromSearch=yes&Id=02i5I00000051vKQAQ.