

DOCUMENTING ENDANGERED JEWISH LANGUAGES: PRACTICAL, ETHICAL, AND CULTURAL ISSUES

Panel discussion featuring:

- Daniel Bögre Udell, Executive Director, Wikitongues
- Yehudit Henshke, Director, Mother Tongue
- Tamari Lomtadze, Linguist, Akaki Tsereteli State University, Georgia
- Ross Perlin, Linguist, Co-Director, Endangered Language Alliance

These scholars and activists will describe their many years of high-stakes work recording the remaining speakers of Judeo-Shirazi, Judeo-Arabic, Jewish-Neo-Aramaic, Judeo-Georgian, and other endangered languages. Join the Jewish Language Project for this enlightening discussion of key issues in the field, such as how researchers locate speakers, structure their interviews, document language variation, and ensure ethical treatment of speakers.
