

Ch	Boys' Own	First sentence
1	What Happened in the Country	The mountain range parallel to the American Atlantic seaboard, which ploughs through North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York State, bears the double name of Alleghany Mountains and Appalachee Moutains.
2	At Morgantown	On April 27 I arrived at Raleigh, the capital of the State of North Carolina, having left Washington the
3	The Great Ery	The following day, at daybreak, Elias Smith and I left Morgantown by the road which follows the left bank of the Satawba river and leads to the little
4	At Meeting of the Automobile Club	Now, whether the Great Ery mystery would be solved some day as a result of happenings not easily to be foreseen, was still a secret of the
5	Off the Coast of New England	At the time when these events were reported by the American newspapers I had been back in
6	The First Letter	After leaving Mr. Ward I went back to my own quarters in Long Street.
7	Three of Them	I acknowledge at once that my surprise was great when I read this letter.
8	At Any Cost	This article had all the tremendous effect of a revelation, received, one might almost say, by
9	Outlawed	Such were the terms of the letter addressed to the Government of the United States, and delivered at the police station without the assistance of the post
10	In the Field	So the elusive captain had just made his reappearance in United States territory.
11	Black Rock Creek	Everybody knows how prone to self-deception human nature is.
12	On Board the "Terrible"	When I came to myself it was daylight.
13	Niagara	Time went by and there was no change in the
13 c	Niagara (continued)	Suddenly it occurred to me that these steamers were the destroyers of which Mr. Ward had told me, that missioned for some time to patrol this portion of the lake, the destroyers whose help I
14	The Eagle's Nest	When I woke up next morning after a rather heavy sleep the machine was not moving.

Ch	Sampson Low (1920s)	First sentence
1	What Happened in the Country	The mountain range parallel to the American Atlantic sea-board , which ploughs through North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York State, bears the double name of Alleghany Mountains and Appalachian Moutains.
2	At Morgantown	[same]
3	The Great Ery	The following day, at daybreak, Elias Smith and I left Morgantown by the road which follows the left bank of the Sarawba river and leads to the little
4	A Meeting of the Automobile Club	Whether the Greet Ery mystery would be solved some day as a result of happenings not easily to be foreseen, was still a scret of the future.
5	Off the Coast of New England	[same]
6	The First Letter	[same]
7	Three of Them	[same]
8	Three of Them	[same]
9	The Second Letter	"On board the Terrible , July 15th."
10	Outlawed	"To the old and the New Worlds." [same]
11	In the Field	[same]
12	In the Field	[same]
13	On Board the "Terrible"	[same]
14	Niagara	[same]
15	The Eagle's Nest	[same]

15	Robur the Conqueror	Medium height, with geometric breadth of shoulders—that is to say, a regular trapezium whose greatest side is formed by the line of the shoulders.
16	"In the Name of the Law"	What would be the issue of the adventure in which I was engaged?
17	Old Grad Has the Last Word	When I came to myself, after having been unconscious for I cannot say how many hours, a group of sailors, whose care had brought me back to life, surrounded the bank where I had been laid. "Well," said old Grad, "he very well might have

16	Robur the Conqueror
17	"In the Name of the Law"
18	"In the Name of the Law"

It is necessary to recall shortly the events which drew attention of the entire country to the said Robur.*

* See the volume entitled Robur the Conqueror in the series "Amazing Adventure," from which the [same]

[same]