

Quarantine

We have now all experienced quarantine. How would you define it?

Did you know?

The practice of quarantine, as we know it, began during the 14th century in an effort to protect coastal cities from plague epidemics. Ships arriving in Venice from infected ports were required to sit at anchor for 40 days before landing. This practice, called quarantine, was derived from the Italian words quaranta giorni which mean 40 days.

Time for research

- What is a plague?
- What was the Great Plague and when did it occur?
- What is the difference between an epidemic and a pandemic?
- What is the difference between quarantine and isolation in 2020?
- Why do you think that 40 days is a good time to stay in quarantine if you are trying to stop the spread of an epidemic?
