

New Zealand scraps ban on traditional lightbulbs

This is great news sent to me by Nele Robberechts about reversing the ban on incandescent light bulbs in New Zealand. Now if only the EU and North America would follow their example.

-magda

New Zealand scraps ban on traditional lightbulbs

http://www.southgatearc.org/news/december2008/nz_scraps_lightbulb_ban.htm

The following is from 'Light bulb ban ended' at <http://national.org.nz/Article.aspx?ArticleID=29097>

Telegraph Letters Page - Unexpected hazards of energy-efficient light bulbs

<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/opinion/main.jhtml?menuId=1588&menuItemId=1&view=DISPLAYCONTENT&grid=A1&targetRule=0>

Daily Telegraph letter - Light Bulb Pollution

http://www.southgatearc.org/news/december2008/low_energy_lightbulbs_letter.htm

The Sunday Times - low-energy light bulbs can block shortwave reception

http://www.southgatearc.org/news/april2007/low_energy_light_bulbs.htm

Research raises health fears over energy-saving light bulbs http://www.timesonline.co.uk/tol/life_and_style/health/article4915472.ece

The Sunday Times - Irwin Stelzer 'Obama could mandate the use of unsafe lightbulbs'

<http://business.timesonline.co.uk/tol/business/columnists/article5114069.ece>

Employment Accessibility Standard

<http://www.mcass.gov.on.ca/mcass/english/pillars/accessibilityOntario>

Informant: Martin Weatherall

[<http://freepage.twoday.net/search?q=light+bulbs>]