

Open Learning Ireland

learn something, share something, do something

Guide For Participants V1.0

You are in an open learning Ireland. What would you like to do?

‘LOOK’

Around you are a multitude of splendiferous people, all going about their tasks. Each liberated and independent, all working cooperatively towards the goals of fun, freedom and frolicks.

What would you like to do?

‘PICKUP FROLICKS’

You pick up the frolicks, signing up to teach a workshop in Prenatal Alexander Method for horses, and to deliver a lecture on ‘The Experience of being a Ferrari’.

What would you like to do?

Open Learning Ireland

'PROPOSE LECTURE'

You contact Open Learning Ireland, either at our email openlearningireland@gmail.com, or through our web form at

<http://openlearningireland.com/propose-a-workshop/>

One of Open Learning's attractive sweet natured staff quickly respond to your queries, arranging a time for your talk, and taking down your requirements (7 Ferrari Testarossa each, for every member of the audience named Meredith).

What will you do?

'PROMOTE YOUR TALK'

You research the history of Ferrari, the brand, the lifestyle chatting to a variety of different models online. This research takes you a week. Your research done, you create a list of bullet points and practice delivering your talk to friends and family.

What will you do?

In coordination with our crack promotion squad (promotions@openlearningireland.com), you create a Facebook event for your talk promoting it to friends and family. Through the application of kisses and chocolate, you build an audience for your lecture.

What will you do?

'PREPARE FOR LECTURE'

Open Learning Ireland

'ARRIVE AT VENUE'

You navigate to our venue 111 Grange-gorman Lower, Smithfield, Dublin 7
You arrive before your assigned time (some when in our week of fun 25th February - 2nd March) and enjoy the workshops and talks others have put together.

What will you do?

'PANIC'

Don't panic.

'WHY NOT! DEAR GOD! WHY NOT!'

Our Learn Something; Share Something; Do Something events are designed to be free and fun for everyone involved. This is your chance to learn about something you love (Ferrari's) and spread the wealth, engaging others in your interest.

What will you do?

'SETUP FOR TALK'

To rapturous applause you approach the podium, connect your laptop (or one provided on request) to our projector, and set up your slides (you could have chosen to deliver the talk 'al dente' were it about pasta).

Open Learning Ireland

'DELIVER TALK'

You deliver your talk. It is a revelation. Generations whisper about its implications.

What do I do now, are we going under?

'ENJOY OPEN LEARNING IRELAND'

You indulge your passion for learning, attending many other workshops through the week and making firm friends, and squishy friends, and everything in between.

Open Learning Ireland

GETTING THERE

Where is this marvelous magical dream time for humans and their animal friends, we hear you ask. And that's one of those good questions, (for examples of some bad questions check out our other pamphlet 'Why I must obey').

The answer is simple. It's near Smithfield, and em, you can get their on the LUAS, the red one. Well the LUAS is the same colour, but the line's red. Wait, not, the line is the colour of dirt and electricity, but the symbolic representation in language of the line is red, like communism or rage.

ADDRESS

DATE

25th February

-
2nd March

TIME

10 AM - 8PM approx

(where approx is short for approximately)

Open Learning Ireland

Credits

Art is public domain...

Cartoon Portraits and Biographical Sketches of Men of the Day (1873)

by Frederick Waddy

<http://archive.org/details/cartoonportraits00wadduoft>

THE CALAVERAS OF JOSÉ GUADALUPE POSADA

Library Of Congress

<http://www.loc.gov/pictures/item/99615830/>

France in the year 2000 by Jean-Marc Côté

<http://publicdomainreview.org/2012/06/30/france-in-the-year-2000-1899-1910/>

Writing / Design

Gareth Stack

