

Conservation Colloquy

A transdisciplinary platform for holistically unraveling global problems between people and wildlife!

Understanding the Drivers of Human Wildlife Conflict & its Mitigation Measures

Dr. Aditi Sharma

Senior Veterinary Officer, Rajaji Tiger Reserve

Dr. Aditi Sharma is a Senior Veterinary Officer for the Rajaji Tiger Reserve with a specialisation in Advanced Wildlife Management. Dr. Sharma is a prominent expert in Human Wildlife Interaction, with a specialisation in Advanced Wildlife Management. While she has taken the oath to ensure the health and welfare of animals, she is known to mitigate human-wildlife conflict with courage & humanity within this context. For nearly two decades, she has treated her patients with great love and care and her high operational excellence has won her many awards. She has successfully completed 6 International Wildlife Courses, presented 27 papers in National and International Conferences, and has authored multiple publications. In addition, she contributes in social programs for Women Empowerment & Women's Safety.

Wonderful WOMAN of Wildlife

Wildlife Wednesdays

(the first Wednesday of every month)

6th January @ 17:00BST/09:00PDT

Grab a pint or cup of coffee and join us!

By reframing fundamental topics we can make significant changes that benefit society, wildlife and the world!

To RSVP please email: ConservationColloquy@gmail.com

To learn more & view past recordings: www.ConservationCATalyst.com