

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY (TENURE TRACK)

Job Summary

- Establish an independent research program leading to publication in Educational Psychology and related academic fields or disciplines.
- Seek and secure external funding to support their scholarship
- Teach courses in educational psychology and specialist areas relevant to the applicant's expertise
- Participate in program initiatives, faculty decisions, and advising
- Provide consultation to students and faculty
- Serve on dissertation committees

Minimum Qualifications

- Ph.D. in a relevant field (e.g., educational psychology, education, psychology, sociology, human development)
- Evidence of research productivity commensurate with experience
- Evidence of potential for external funding
- Expertise in moral /character development/education workforce development/re-development, out-of-school learning, and/or motivational science
- Ability to work with students and faculty in a variety of disciplines
- Strong writing and pedagogical skills
- Commitment to working with diverse populations

The University of Alabama is an Equal Employment/Equal Educational Opportunity Institution. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, age, genetic or family medical history information, disability, or protected veteran status, or any other legally protected basis, and will not be discriminated against because of their protected status. Applicants to and employ of this institution are protected under Federal law from discrimination on several bases

*Starting Date:
August 16, 2023*

<https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/51229>