History of Technology and Science Days 2024

12–14 June 2024 at the National Museum of Science and Technology (Tekniska museet) in Stockholm.

Conference theme: Technology and Nation

The History of Technology and Science Days is a recurring meeting place for researchers who from a historical perspective study technology and science in relation to society. The conference also aims to create exchanges between researchers and professionals in museums, schools and archives with connections to the history of technology and science.
