

January 26th: Fostering Transformative Learning

Students, sometimes, go from course to course looking at material on the surface and do not make deeper connections. Transformative experiences integrate learning that can be applied to the real world. Transformative educational experiences, have been shown by research to enhance student learning and engagement.

This workshop will provide an overview of these experiences, the characteristics that make them “transformative”, and examples of how instructors can design opportunities for students to engage in deep and meaningful learning.

Facilitated by: Maria Macik, Center for Teaching Excellence

When: Tuesday, January 26 (11:30 AM – 1:00 PM)

Where: MSC 2505

Registration Open to: Post-Docs, Graduate Students, and Staff
