PIPELINES AND PIPEDREAMS

IMAGINING CANADA'S ENERGY FUTURE

About the WG Symposium

For twenty years, the Walter Gordon Symposium in Public Policy has presented a complex and nuanced view of diverse policy issues to the public. The symposium takes place annually in honour of the late Honourable Walter Gordon, Canadian patriot, devoted public servant and Senior Fellow of Massey College from 1973 until his death in 1987.

Keynote Speakers:

David

MANNING

Alberta's representative to Washington D.C. and former President of the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers

Scott

VAUGHAN

Canada's Commissioner of the Environment and Sustainable Development and former Director of the Department of Sustainable Development of the OAS

Presented by Massey College and the School of Public Policy and Governance at the University of Toronto, this year's symposium examines the future of Canada's energy policy. David Manning, Alberta's envoy to the US, and Scott Vaughan, Canada's environment commissioner, will discuss how we might balance competing interests. From the Staples Trap of an economy based on a Bitumen Bubble to the Keystone XL pipeline and domestic refinery options, we ask "what's next?" Our keynote speakers will consider the opportunities and constraints of regulation in the energy economy, as well as challenges and possibilities for infrastructure integration. Don't miss the chance to hear the latest on relations with the United States, and hear our speakers tackle questions about fracking and so-called green oil.
