

The Palgrave Handbook of African Women's Studies

Editors: Yacob-Haliso Olajumoke, Falola Toyin (Eds.)

- Includes marginal and less-studied aspects of African women's experiences including coverage of sports, environmental activism, Islamic fundamentalism, disabilities, LGBTQ issues, and more
- Presents a diversity of African women's experiences, taking into account differences of race, nationality, ethnicity, class, and gender, among others
- Privileges the voices of African women themselves in the authorship and contents of the essays in this volume
- Delivers a pedagogic tool available to students, instructors, researchers, policy makers, and activists who wish to engage the various topics and issues
