

Job Title: Technical Product Manager for Rachio Software

About this Opportunity

Rachio is seeking a talented and motivated product manager looking to expand her or his skills with an exciting startup in downtown Denver. This person will own Rachio's software product roadmap, with input from key stakeholders. A successful candidate will have a proven track record of leading complex, multi-disciplinary product development projects.

In this role, you will plan product requirements with internal customers and move products through the entire project lifecycle, including managing project schedules, identifying risks and clearly communicating them to project stakeholders. You'll share your team's analyses and recommendations to executives as you are discussing the technical trade-offs in product development with engineers.

Using your extensive technical and leadership expertise, you'll manage projects of various size and scope, identifying future opportunities, improving processes and driving the technical directions of your programs.

Job Duties

- Lead several technical projects, setting priorities for products and engineering, managing cross-functional teams.
- Manage project schedules, identify risks and clearly communicate them to project stakeholders.
- Ensure success metrics are informing future efforts, and quickly fine tuning the project as needed.
- Work with internal stakeholders to scope new product features.
- Provide product updates to sales, business development, marketing and engineering teams.
- Maintain a product roadmap and feature backlog.
- Prioritize product features with buy in from executives and department heads.
- Work closely with lead UX designer to develop test plans and define features.
- Work with head of Product Marketing to manage product releases.
- Communicate with technology partners to coordinate product integrations.

Desired Experience

- At least 5 years in software focused product management.
- Experience leading an agile software development team.

- Some software development experience.
- Experience in the IoT industry.

Compensation

- Salary based on experience.
- Stock options.

Benefits

- Great location in the heart of Denver's LoDo area, near the ballpark, that includes parking.
- Employee Paid Medical & Dental Insurance, 50% spouse paid.
- 401(k) Employee Retirement Savings Account.
- Paid Holidays & Flexible Time-Off Policy.
- Fun, collegial startup culture. We even love dogs in the office.

About Rachio

Rachio is a mission-based startup that is changing the way people water. Our smart sprinkler controller makes running sprinklers easy while saving water and money. In fact, we've saved over 1 billion gallons of water to date. An industry leader in the connected home space, Rachio has one of the highest rated and reviewed products on the market.

Founded in 2012, Rachio is venture-backed by Arborview Capital, Miramar Digital Ventures and Michigan eLab as well as a past winner of Denver Startup Weekend, the Colorado Innovation Challenge (COIN) and the APEX Challenge.
