HOW TALENTS ARE DEVELOPED THROUGH EARLY TRAINING

Is it possible to turn your kids into the next Warren Buffett, the next Bill Gates or John D. Rockefeller? Yes, it is! Research shows talents are developed, not born. But you have to start early! The sad reality of life is that most parents ignore the development of their kids' mind muscles until it's too late. If you have big dreams for your kid's future, we would love to help with a proven training system.

1. Extensive research shows an early start since childhood is the key to success in any field, be it Olympic diving, piano, art or business. Warren Buffett, the richest man in the world and the greatest investor in history, started at age 6, reading his father's brokerage books. John D. Rockefeller and Thomas Edison also had extensive home tutoring about money and business since they were 5.
2. Finding a qualified coach with a proven system of training is important.
3. Join other kids in the neighborhood. To build mind muscles, kids need partners and competitors. Math and money are boring for kids unless we know how to inject fun and joy into boring stuff. We blend financial wisdom into songs, drawings and Tai Chi tap dance! Your baby will learn Tai Chi body posture, mental math, drawing, singing, reading, while they accumulate friends and financial wisdom. We tailor our proprietary training material for every kid.
4. It takes a family to develop a top talent. In our home tutoring network, parents and kids learn together to acquire financial intelligence. We share best practices through our network utilizing a training system that produced talents like Warren Buffett and John D. Rockefeller.
5. Join a support group with financial savvy! To join our club with tutoring for kids and coaching for parents, please call 646.388.0887.

In today's noisy world full of distractions, parents are having a hard time identifying their child's unique talents and finding what matters most for their future. We know what to focus on based on years of research.
